Gov. Ridge Announces $5.3 Million In Interim Drought Assistance For Pennsylvania's Farmers

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Gov. Tom Ridge has offered a $5.3 million interim plan to help Pennsylvania's farmers recover from the drought.

"Help is on the way for Pennsylvania's farmers," Gov. Ridge said. "We'll reimburse our farmers to help buy the hay they need to recover from the devastating drought. If they have to go far to get that hay, we'll help them pay to bring it home. We'll transport in donated hay from the Midwest. And we'll eliminate the fees that many farmers have to pay the state. These interim steps will give our farmers a helping hand while we await help from Washington.

"Pennsylvanians have sent millions of their hard-earned federal tax dollars to fund disaster grants for the states across the nation. Now, unfortunately, we need that same help for our farmers. I urge all Pennsylvanians to join me in calling on Congress to do the right thing for Pennsylvania's farmers."

Gov. Ridge signed a letter this week with 11 other Northeastern governors, urging Congress to enact grants for drought-stricken farmers.

"We will begin to implement this interim assistance while we await congressional action," Gov. Ridge said. "When Congress acts, we will reassess to determine if additional state assistance is necessary."

Gov. Ridge's interim plan:

- Creates a rebate plan to reimburse Pennsylvania farmers for hay purchases and long-distance hay transportation

The 36th Annual Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show Opens

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Beginning today, the 36th Annual Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show will be bustling with activity with antiques displays, a dairy pageant tonight, and other activities as this granddaddy of all dairy cattle shows opens for business here at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex.

The All-Dairy Antiques and Collectibles Show is two years old and will be housed in the Dairy Activities Center. The show will open today at noon. More than 20 exhibitors from as far away as Michigan and Minnesota will be displaying items ranging from milk bottles, cream separators, butter churns, and ice cream paraphernalia to small farm implements and more. This all-dairy antique and collectibles show will be open Saturday through Thursday under the supervision of Dr. Darwin G. Braund of the Pasto Museum at Penn State University.

The Country Craft Market will be open again this year Sunday through Thursday. Vendors will be selling cow wearables, floral creations, painted items, and more. Bonnie Mohr, a dairy farmer turned painter, will have a display of her latest rural American art prints and notecards.

Sunday, Sept. 19 will be a full day for visitors and exhibitors.

The Country Craft Market will open at noon in the Dairy Activities Center. The Youth Showmanship Contest allows young dairy showman to test their showmanship skills.

In the evening, the Pennsylvania Junior Guernsey Breeders Meeting and Social, Pennsylvania Ayrshire Youth Meeting and Social, and Pennsylvania Junior Jersey Meeting will update young breeders. At 7 p.m. the Careers and Opportunities Night ice cream social will bring youth and college representatives together. Later, the Junior Dairy Show Olympics will fill the Small Arena.

Monday, Sept. 20, is Youth

Day. The Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show participants will tread the tanbark in the Large Arena. This show features district show winners, allowing the cream of the crop to compete for first-place honors. The Invitational Youth Dairy Cattle Judging Contest draws teams from as far away as California, Wisconsin, and Florida to compete in this collegiate-level competition.

On Tuesday, Sept. 21, the national and regional breed shows commence. The All-American Ayrshire Show will start at 9 a.m., officiated by Brian Garrison of Tiffin, Ohio. The Pennsylvania Fall Championship Holstein Show officiated by Norman Nabholz at 9 a.m. will be conducted as well. The Junior Dairy Management Contest will test the skills and knowledge of about 100 young dairy enthusiasts on Tuesday morning. The Pennsylvania 4-H and FFA Dairy Judging Forum will also start this morning at 10 a.m. Later in the day, the All-American Milking Shorthorn Show will commence in the Large Arena, officiated by Mary Shank Creek.

On Wednesday, Sept. 22, the Large Arena of the Farm Show Complex will be bustling with cattle as the National Guernsey Show, officiated by Murray

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE

Prices were generally unchanged on the larger sizes, but lower on mediums in New York, Philadelphia, and Chicago. The market tone was mixed and ranged from cautiously steady on larger sizes to barely steady and weak on lighter weights. Demand was unaggressive but generally fair as movement was reported in a full range of light to good. Some locations reported that retail demand had improved from early week business. Grade loose large was adequate to available, mediums were irregular but available. Breaking stock supplies were sufficient even though interest had improved. However, in the Central region checks and undergrades were trending lower. Availability of light type hens were fully adequate to ample for current needs.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO
Wed Sep 15, 1999

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Grain and soybean bids were sharply lower due to harvest progress, favorable weather, profit taking, slow export demand, and good yields in corn and wheat. Wheat steady to 12 cents lower. Corn 2 to 6 cents lower. Sorghum 4 to 5 cents lower. Soybeans 7 to 15 cents lower. Slow export sales this week, weighed on wheat bids, despite fairly good overnight purchases and some profit taking was noted on the Board. Good rains in the southern Plains spur ideas of increased hard red winter wheat plantings. Spring wheat harvest is finishing up and elevators are trying to clear out wheat to make room for corn and soybeans. Corn bids were lower due to early harvest reports of better than expected yields. Good overnight export sales of corn, limited declines. Sharp losses in soybean bids, again, were due to continued lack of export orders this week and good growing weather. Continue weakness in soybean meal also added pressure to beans.

"What's going on, Andy?"

"Well, I sent some cows to auction, installed new software to monitor the herd, got a great price on minerals,

ran the numbers on a major expansion, leased 25 first-calf heifers, switched my workers' comp, and set up investments for the kids' college education."

AWE IN THE AUTUMN

The autumnal equinox on September 23 is preceded by Yom Kippur (Sept. 20), the tenth and final day of the "Days of Awe." Yom Kippur is a time of atonement for past wrongdoings and a pledge of new commitment to the community. Autumn offers a perfect time for personal change, with the foliage changing in such spectacular fashion. To identify the trees, observe their color changes. Sugar maple and sumac turn flame red or orange. Dogwood, red maple, sassafras, and scarlet oak show dark red. Birch, poplar, tulip tree, and willow turn yellow, ash tree turns plum purple, and beech, elm, hickory, larch, oak, and sycamore turn tan and brown. Locust leaves stay green, then fall off.

There is nothing permanent except change.

TIP OF THE WEEK

A change is as good as a rest. If you haven't had a vacation yet, how about taking one now?

LENTIL SOUP

1/2 pound lentils
1-1/2 quarts water
2 or 3 stalks celery and leaves, chopped fine
2 small carrots, chopped
1 onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 generous tablespoon oil
3 fresh ripe tomatoes, or 1/2 cup canned tomatoes
1 bay leaf
salt and pepper, to taste
chopped parsley (sprinkle) 1 pound shell or elbow pasta until mixture comes to a boil. Let simmer for 30 minutes or longer, if desired. (Oil in recipe accelerates cooking time.) Cook pasta according to package directions, then add to lentil soup. Cook 5 minutes longer.

Makes 6 servings.

Combine all ingredients except pasta in a heavy saucepan and cook

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

As the weather is at the time of the equinox, so will it be during the following three months.

As the equinoctial storm (also called the line storm) clears off, so will storms clear off for six months.

A wet fall indicates a cold and early winter.

Telmark has been leasing equipment for over 30 years. Did you know that we've been leasing new buildings for that long too? Consider:

- Tax deductibility and accelerated write-offs: Lease payments are income tax deductible over the term of the lease compared to 20-year depreciation of farm buildings and 39-year depreciation of commercial buildings. Could reduce tax liability this year.
- Low upfront costs: Beginning costs as little as one monthly lease payment.
- Flexible lease term: Building lease terms start aggressively at five years but may be as long as ten, twelve, or fifteen years.
- Customized payment schedules: Lease payment schedules are specially designed to match your cash flow

First: Talk with a qualified builder to determine your needs and building cost.

OPINION

Responsible Science

Two prominent entomologists warn that recent studies on the effects of genetically engineered crops have distorted the debate about engineered crops and that this could have "profound consequences" for science and public policy.

The article, "False reports and the ears of men," in the latest issue of "Nature Biotechnology," is authored by Anthony M. Shelton, professor of entomology at Cornell's New York State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, and Richard T. Roush of the University of Adelaide, Australia. They urge that the public should not be swayed "by laboratory reports, that when looked at with a critical eye, may not have any reality in the field or even in the laboratory."

The first of the studies they comment on was led by John E. Losey, Cornell assistant professor of entomology. This study of the effect of "Bacillus thuringiensis" (Bt) corn on the monarch butterfly "can only be considered a preliminary laboratory study," they write.

In the May 20 issue of "Nature," Losey and his colleagues reported that pollen from commercial corn, genetically engineered to produce a bacterial toxin to protect it against European corn borers, kills monarch butterfly larvae in laboratory tests. While Shelton and Roush note that this result was expected under such laboratory test conditions, they question whether this test was realistic.

"If I went to a movie and bought a hundred pounds of salted popcorn because I like salted popcorn, and then I ate those salted popcorn all at once, I'd probably die. Eating that much salted popcorn simply is not a real-world situation, but if I died it may be reported that salted popcorn was lethal," Shelton said in an interview. "The same thing holds true for monarch butterflies and pollen. Scientists have a duty to be incredibly responsible for developing realistic studies. Scientists need to make assessments that are pertinent to the real world."

In the second study discussed in the article, researchers at Kansas State University reported in "Science" that they had discovered corn borer resistance to Bt toxins. Shelton and Roush question the methodology used in the study, "including that the authors did not demonstrate that resistance was actually to the same Bt toxin as in the plant or that the insects could survive on the Bt plant." Even so, they write, "this questionable laboratory study has generated considerable debate over whether the present resistance management policy should be overturned."

In discussing the Cornell monarch butterfly report, Shelton and Roush voice their surprise that a "previous and more relevant and realistic study has been largely overlooked." While the Cornell laboratory study showed high mortality among monarch larvae that ingested genetically engineered pollen, an Iowa State University study by Laura Hansen and John Obrycki showed low mortality even when Monarch larvae were fed milkweed that had the highest levels of Bt pollen that would be encountered in the field. Shelton and Roush note that it is unlikely that these high Bt pollen levels would be encountered by the insects in the field, and they say that "few entomologists or weed scientists familiar with the butterflies or corn production give credence to the "Nature" article."

To Plant Spring Oats For Fall Forage

The drought of 1999 has caused many livestock and dairy farmers to be facing feed shortages for the coming winter. There are still some emergency options that can be pursued to provide additional forage.

Small grains may be used for supplemental forage production according to Dr. Elwood Hatley, Penn State Agronomist. The best option for fall forage production is spring oats. It may be used for grazing or silage.

It may be seeded in early September at three bushels per acre. Usually no additional inputs are required. Fertilizer application is not likely to increase yields. Feed oats may be used for seed provided you check the germination. To check germination, take 100 seeds, place them in a wet paper towel in a plastic bag and put them in a warm place. In a few days check to see what percentage has germinated. If germination is less than 90 percent, increase your seeding rate accordingly or buy seed oats.

To Plant Winter Grains For Forage

Winter grains such as wheat, barley or rye, may provide grazing this fall or spring silage production. Harvesting winter grains as silage in the fall is difficult because they lack stem development. Harvesting for fall silage may be improved by mixing spring oats (2 bushels per acre) with fall grain (1.5 bushels per acre). Winter grains can provide grazing in the fall or spring without harming grain yield as long as the plants are allowed to go into winter with two to three inches of growth and the cattle are removed in the spring prior to stem elongation. All winter grains may be harvested for silage production in the spring. Traditionally rye has been the grain used most often for forage production. It can be planted the latest for erosion control and forage production. It does drop in forage quality faster than the other grains. It must be harvested in the boot stage prior to head emergence.

Other winter grains may be harvested later in maturity. Which winter grain is best for your forage production will partly be determined by which one is most convenient for you to harvest in the spring. Rye is normally harvested for silage in late April, barley in early May and wheat in mid May.

To Cope With Stress

A crisis is an event that can affect a family at any moment, according to Debra Naumann, Lancaster County Extension Family Living Agent.

Whether it is an illness, death, accident or weather related problems, such as the recent drought, families react in many different ways to crisis. Some break apart, while others not only make it through, but grow stronger as a result. Families that grow stronger are often those who have taken steps ahead of time to develop their strengths. These families are open and honest and possess good communication skills.

This means that family members not only share feelings about problems with each other, but are able listen to each other without offering instant solutions or answers. These families are not afraid to seek support outside the immediate family. This could be from other trusted family members, friends, church or community agencies. Families with strong coping skills recognize the importance of spending time together in the event of a crisis. While life may be difficult, they gain strength by developing a teamwork approach to problem solving and by spending time together laughing, relaxing and playing. Those families who cope well in the event of a crisis are able to see a crisis as an opportunity to become stronger. By viewing the crisis as a challenge rather than an event that may level them, these families take an active role in making things better. This sense of hope and optimism helps them to go on even when things look unbearable.

ARE YOU A PROMISE KEEPER?
September 19, 1999

Background Scripture:
Exodus 19:1 through 20:21
Devotional Reading:
Deuteronomy 4:32-40

In the stories of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph, the basic relationship between God and these people is that of covenant. God and the people make an agreement or a pact with each other. God promises Abraham that he and his descendants shall be his people and he will be their God. This is the covenant relationship that is at the heart of their religion. In Exodus 19 God spells out some of the basics of this relationship. We call these basics "the Ten Commandments."

Some of us have problems with commandments. The very fact that we are commanded to do this or not to do that often motivates us to resist and perhaps even defy these commandments. From the Garden of Eden onwards, God's children resisted him either passively or actively or both. One woman said she didn't like the Ten Commandments because they gave people ideas! She's right. The very fact that God says "Thou shalt not . . ." motivates some people to try out the very thing God forbids.

GOD'S GRACIOUS ACTS

We often fail to realize that the covenant between God and Israel — as well as between God and us — does not begin with commandments. Before delivering them to Moses, the Lord says to him, "You have seen what I have done to the Egyptians, and how I bore you on eagles' wings and brought you to myself . . ." (19:4). The covenant is always based upon what God has already done for us. It is from this context that he says: "Now, therefore, if you will obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my own possession among all peoples . . ." (5,6).

The starting place of our relationship with God is not with what he tells us he will do, but what he has already done for us. There came a time in my adult life when, if my parents asked me to do something, I did it, not so that they would do something nice for me, but because of what they had already done for me many times over. I knew I could never repay the debt I owed them. Our relationship with God is similar: we start off with an indebtedness we can never pay back. What God has done for us becomes our motivation to keep our promises.

OUR 'EGYPTIAN SERVITUDE'

The Ten Commandments are directly preceded by these words: "I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. You shall have no other gods before me" (20:1,2). We respond to God's saving us from our own personal Egyptian servitude by promising to follow and worship no other gods. And so it is with each of the commandments: they provide a way of accepting what God has done for us.

When we study the Ten Commandments, we find that God does not command us to do or not do this or that simply because he wants us to toe the mark. Each commandment tries to protect us from the consequences that follow the breaking of them.

So, these commandments are not for his sake, but ours. If we worship other gods, graven images, take God's name in vain, violate the Sabbath, fail to honor our parents, kill, commit adultery, steal, bear false witness and let ourselves be consumed by covetousness, we are the losers, not God. Our lives are enriched when we keep our promises and they are impoverished when we do not.

So, God gives us the commandments, not to restrict us, but to enrich us and we keep our promises for the same reason. Being a disciple of Jesus Christ is based upon what God has done for us and keeping the promises we make to him.

Corn Winners' Joy Overshadowed By Pollution Problems

DAVID HIEBERT

McCONNELLSBURG, (Fulton Co.) — The Glazier family should be happy. And they are. Sort of. But their joy in winning the statewide ear corn class, hand-harvest division first place is overshadowed by a great fear

Will present measures be enough to restore health to the dairy herd?

New Use Market Should Be Where Producers Set Sights

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Corn and soybean producers have to realize one thing, according to a commodity broker: the feed business grows only at an annual rate of one to two percent.

"To me, that's a problem," said Pat Boova, Smith Barney marketing specialist. "That's a huge problem."

Boova, who spoke to more than 100 corn and soybean growers and agri-industry representatives in January at the crops conference at the Days Inn Conference Center near Allentown, said, "None of us can run a business growing at one or two percent a year," he said. "It can't be done. It's not going to work."

Boova noted that 97 percent of the soy protein goes to feed business. Trouble is, humans don't eat a great deal of soy protein. If they did, soybean growers would be experiencing a boom time.

Same goes for corn producers. Take away the high fructose

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Recently available is the 1998 Report of the Pennsylvania 5-Acre Corn Club, supported by the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association and participating seed companies.

The winners were announced in January at the annual Pennsylvania Corn and Soybean Conference at the Days Inn Conference Center, Allentown.

According to Greg Roth, Penn State associate professor of agronomy, there were about six "fundamentals" that were followed among most of the winners. They included paying attention to the planter, getting

President's Message

Chris Kimmel
President, PMCGA

Now that you have attended winter meetings or are still attending some, do you know what you are going to do with the information?

With corn prices where they are, we certainly need to make our planting dollar go as far as possible

With seed corn prices ranging from more than $50 to $100, make sure you know what you are getting and how it will work for your situation

When it comes to spraying, there are lots of options. In our situation, we finally gave up on trying to do it with a one pass system and have committed ourselves to a pre and post-application. This allows us to evaluate our weed spectrum and better match weeds and chemicals. It saves us more than $5 per acre, even with the extra trip, and does a better job

As poor as corn prices are,

WB95PZ Zimmerman Water Bowl

The Unlimited Water Supply For Your Cows!

Low maintenance
noncorrosive Delrin valve is self cleaning & simple to operate!

Now you can give your cows the water they need to produce more milk. With the Zimmerman Water Bowl, you can do it at no extra cost!

The bowls are designed to comply with known federal and local requirements when installed properly.*

Cows are not designed to push a paddle when they need a drink. This unique watering system provides a continuous supply of fresh water in the way nature intended cows to drink. With a large capacity, fast recovery and a guarantee against breakage, the Zimmerman Water Bowl will revolutionize the way you water your herd.

*All bottom fill bowls require that approved back flow prevention devices be installed in potable water supply lines

Install in new or remodeled facilities or in most existing barns on manger or stall side!

- 12" in diameter & 8" deep.
- 3 gallon capacity- 6-times that of other bowls!
- Fast recovery- 3 gallons per minute at 40 psi.
- PVC construction- guaranteed unbreakable, inhibits bacterial growth.
- With nonrestrictive splash guard.
- Cleaner- water fill located at bottom.
- Bottom drain- for easy cleaning.
- Adjustable water level.

MORE WATER MEANS MORE MILK...NATURALLY!

Heavy duty steel clamp & mounting bracket totally supports bowl.

Two Coat Process!

Added Value With Our 2 Coat Process!

1. Five step metal preparation, including iron phosphate conversion coating, to enhance adhesion & prevent undercoat corrosion.
2. Zinc rich epoxy powder undercoat
3. TGIC polyester powder top coat, baked at 400° to fuse coats, forming a cross link molecular bond

Somerset Junior Livestock Sale Exceeds $191,000

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent
MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — The Junior Livestock Sale at the Somerset County Fair tallied $191,619.75, according to official reports following the Aug. 28 event.

Not only was it a large sale because some 221 market swine crossed the auction block, but additionally, 46 market steers and 70 market lambs totaled 337 animals that were sold during the seven-hour event.

Including champions, sales averaged $1.38 per pound for steers, $3.23 per pound for lambs, and $1.72 per pound for swine.

Interestingly, fewer than a dozen animals sold for less than $1 a pound, according to the sale statistician Doyle Paul from Berlin. He said the bids were consistently good.

Because the buyers were generous and donated back the animals they purchased to be resold, the 4-H and FFA Scholarship Fund will receive some $7,259, Paul said.

Walker's Farm Service, owned by A.J. Walker and his wife Shirley, was the premier buyer. Always a strong supporter of the 4-H and FFA youth, the Walkers paid $17,899 for 19 animals.

Lincoln Equipment and Supply Co., owned by Sidney Riggs, was runner-up.

Dan Miller's grand champion steer sold for $6,902.50 or $5.50 per pound to Laurel Bank. It was resold for the scholarship fund. Miller is from Meyersdale.

Gabriel Svonavec, Rockwood, saw his reserve champion steer bought by Lincoln Supply and Equipment Company for $2,925, or $2.50 per pound.

Walker's Farm Service purchased Shawn Troutman's county-bred champion steer for $3,780, or $3 per pound. The young man has a Hyndman address.

Jesse Brant of Rockwood had the reserve champion county-bred steer that sold for $3,341.25 to Hoss's Steak and Sea House. The average was $2.75 per pound.

The champion senior showman steer owned by Jason Knotts of Hyndman sold for $2,038.75, or $1.75 per pound to Agway, Inc. of Somerset.

The group champion steer of Joshua King, Somerset, sold for $2,257.50, or $1.75 per pound to Lincoln Supply and Equipment Company. The steer was donated to the Children's Aid Home Programs of Somerset County.

The grand champion lamb owned by Molly Enos of Somerset sold for $1,708, or $14 per pound to Somerset Trust Company.

The reserve champion lamb owned by Nicole Shultz of Rockwood sold for $1,386, or $11 per pound to the Animal Medical Center of Somerset County and resold to benefit the scholarship fund.

The champion home-grown lamb, also owned by Nicole Shultz, sold for $1,031.25, or $8.25 per pound to Janney Montgomery Scott.

The reserve champion home grown lamb owned by Amy Schmuck of Rockwood sold for $1,098, or $9 per pound to Lost Run Lodge.

The champion county-bred lamb owned by Deidra Smith of

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER
MARKET. FEDERAL STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was light and cautious. Seller offerings remained fully adequate to ample. Live supplies were at least moderate; weights varied, but were often noted as heavier than desired. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. The approaching hurricane was already causing some disruptions and some plants anticipated curtailing operations. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 53 to 65 cents Trade sentiment was unsettled to weak. Wings were adequate and clearing well. Boneless/skinless and bone-in breasts were readily available. Leg quarters were fully adequate to ample.

SPRINGFIELD (Delaware Co.) — Winners at the 4-H Fair were from all over Delaware County this year as well as the edges of Chester County, and not all were 4-H members.

At the fair, Aug. 13-14, winners were honored with ribbons for vegetables, poultry, model horses, sheep, pigs, demonstrations, exhibits, posters, and the fun contests for stinky shoes and watermelon seed spitting.

Attendance was estimated at an all-time high of 800-900 for the Friday evening, Saturday event.

Poultry winners included champion White Leghorn, David Hanna of Newtown Square; champion Red SexSal, Michele McClellan of Aston; Meat Birds, Julie McClelland of Colwyn; and pullets, Aaron Murphy of Kennett Square.

4-H members in the lamb and hog program were eligible to win in two categories, once for showmanship, which evaluates how well the member prepares and presents the animal to the judge, and once for the animal itself on the expected quality of meat it will produce. The members are divided by seniority and the animals by weight classes. Frank Videon of Newtown Square once again supported 4-H by purchasing the champion hog and lamb at record prices and donating the meat back to 4-H for use at the annual recognition dinner.

The lamb showmanship champions were Holly Gingrich of Drexel Hill, experienced junior showman; Meredith Ruzowicz of Newtown Square, experienced senior showman; Lynn Jorden of Media, novice junior showman; and Ryan O'Keefe of Havertown, novice senior showman. The champion lambs were heavyweight, owned by Danielle Kays of Havertown and Melanie Hamilton of Glen

Every day, more farmers are taking advantage of the many

Is today your day?

Dairylea's membership is growing throughout the area. That's because so many of your neighbors have already found what being a member can do for their farms. It can take some of the stress out of the dairy business, boost profitability and put valuable resources at your fingertips.

You'll still put the same effort into running your farm, but as a Dairylea member you'll get more out of it.

Supreme Champion Breeding Sheep Named At York Fair

YORK (York Co.) - The open sheep shows were held at York Fair this week with the wool breeds judged on Sunday, and the meat breeds on Monday.

Randy Irwin from Freeland, Maryland, showed the supreme champion ram and the supreme champion ewe in the wool breeds after taking both championships in the natural color breed, and champion ram honors in the other wool breeds class. Greta Dise, Glen Rock showed the champion ewe in the other wool breeds class.

Brian and Bruce Snyder from Kutztown had both the champion ram and the champion ewe in the Corridale breed.

Melissa Trostle, Red Lion, had the supreme champion ewe, a Cheviot. Flinchbaugh also had the champion Southdown ewe, and John Eaton, Jr., from Windsor, had the champion Cheviot.

Barry and Bruce Snyder, Kutztown, had the champion

Dorset ram. Holly Stone Farm, Paoli, had the champion Dorset ewe.

Tranis Flory, Red Lion, had both the champion Suffolk ram

In all, the number of livestock at the York Fair was down by about 50 head this year. No one really seemed to know why.

Mills and lightweight owned by Chelsea and Conor McAlarney of Willistown.

The pig showmanship champions were Emily Cashell of Springfield, experienced junior showman; Rob Davis of Springfield, experienced senior showman; Lisa Albany of Boothwyn, novice junior showman; and Karen Moran-Thomas of Springfield, novice senior showman. The champion pig was owned by Julie McClelland of Colwyn, and the reserve champion pig was owned by Brian Albany of Boothwyn.

Mike Candelori of Havertown and Vera Kurlavage of Lansdowne both received champion ribbons for educational posters about 4-H projects completed in the last year. Exhibits of completed projects such as woodworking, basketry, and first-aid kits for animals were judged and Mandie Hopson of Secane was awarded the champion ribbon. Project demonstrations were presented to a live audience on Saturday. The champion demonstration was on dog training presented by Chelsea McAlarney of Willistown.

4-H members who participate in performing chores for the horses owned by 4-H had the opportunity to compete in grooming and showmanship and a number of competitive games which demonstrated riding skills. Emilie Davis of Springfield was awarded the champion ribbon.

Junior Livestock Sale Grosses $176,996

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — Outdoing itself this year in dollars, number of animals sold, and in community spirit, the Wayne County Junior Livestock Sale sold 343 market animals in nearly seven hours of auctioning starting at 11 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 14 here at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

Area businesses, parents, and friends of 4-H purchased market hogs, lambs, and steers for a total sale figure of $176,996.

Repeating as volume buyer for the fourth year in a row was Waymart Milling Company, followed closely by Reining Forest Products of Beach Lake.

The sale began with the awarding of three scholarships to outstanding participants in the livestock program who will be entering or continuing their education in the fall. Receiving scholarships were Bridget O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben O'Neill, Pleasant Mount. Bridget will enter Marywood University for the fall term. Kathleen Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weaver, Pleasant Mount, was the recipient of another scholarship. She will matriculate at College Misericordia.

Also, Daniel Nebzydoski, son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Nebzydoski of Pleasant Mount, received a scholarship from the livestock fund. Dan will be a sophomore at the University of Scranton this fall.

The first animal offered for sale was the 256-pound grand champion market hog raised by Jeremy O'Neill of the Pleasant Mount Go-Getters. This animal was purchased by the Wayne Bank for a record price of $2,944.

The reserve grand champion market hog was raised by Ryan Keyes, also of the Pleasant Mount Go-Getters 4-H Club. Marshall Machinery, Beach Lake, successfully bid this animal to $1,870.50.

Hesten Grossman, Honesdale, sold his 114-pound grand champion market lamb to Honesdale National Bank for $1,111.50.

The reserve grand champion market lamb was raised by Tiffany Schweighofer of Honesdale. Dr. Henry and Jean Nebzydoski of Pleasant Mount purchased this lamb for $768.

Julie Olver's 1,215-pound grand champion market steer was bought by Reining Forest Products of Beach Lake for $3,037.50. Nick Nebzydoski of Pleasant Mount raised the reserve grand champion market steer which was sold for $1,955.25 to Waymart Milling Company.

Several animals were sold by 4-H'ers or donated for resale by individuals and businesses to benefit various individuals or funds. The Livestock Scholarship Fund increased substantially from resale of animals.

Rob Thorpe of Waymart Milling Company received donations from 4-H members to help defray medical expenses following a summer farming accident. Returning the price of one animal for Thorpe were Matt Hauenstein, Cameron Burleigh, Peter Nebzydoski, Nick Nebzydoski, Andrew Nebzydoski, Jeremy O'Neill, and Jennifer Eroh. Keating's Heavens Gate Farm, Dave's Super Duper Markets, Art Noble, Community Bank and Trust, William Lopatofsky, William Grunski, and John Lillie also resold one animal for Thorpe.

Grand champion market lamb was raised by Landen Grossman and purchased by Honesdale National Bank for $9.75 per pound.

Grand Champion Market Hog raised by Jeremy O'Neill was purchased by Wayne Bank for $11.50 per pound.

Reserve grand champion market steer was raised by Nick Nebzydoski and purchased by Waymart Milling Company for $1.65 per pound.

4-H Hog Clubs Conduct 57th Annual Show, Sale

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — The 57th Annual Franklin County 4-H Hog Club Show and Sale was conducted at the Greencastle Livestock Market Saturday, Aug. 14, with 83 4-H project animals shown and sold.

The 83 head of pork-on-the-hoof totaled 19,705 pounds and sold for a total sale value of $17,814 or an average of 90 cents per pound.

The grand champion hog weighing 240 pounds, was shown by Justin Conner, Chambersburg, and was purchased by Craig's Hog Buying Station for $2.80 a pound. The reserve champion shown by Jordan Conner of Chambersburg, weighing in at 235 pounds, was purchased by Hatfield Quality Meats for $2 a pound.

In the pen-of-two class championship honors went to Jonathan Wenger, Newburg, and was purchased by Craig's Hog Buying station for $1 a pound. Reserve champion honors went to Marshall Daihl, Dry Run, and was purchased by J. Wilmer Lehman for 80 cents a pound.

In the junior fitting and showing class, Nicholas Wingert, St. Thomas, was declared grand champion and Jamie Eaton, Dry Run, was granted reserve championship honors.

In the senior division, Justin Conner was declared grand champion and Adam Greenawalt, Amberson, was declared reserve champion.

The show was judged by Dave Hosterman, manager of the Penn State Swine Research Center. Roundup trophies were sponsored by AgChoice Farm Credit of Chambersburg and ribbons and rosettes were provided by the Franklin County 4-H Development Fund.

4-H Members Show Goats At The Fair

WELLSBORO (Tioga Co.) — Tioga County's first 4-H goat show was a big hit at the Tioga County Fair.

Despite the damp, gray weather, the bleachers were full of interested spectators.

Fourteen 4-H members from Tioga county competed in a wide range of classes with their goats. The grand champion showman award went to Rachel Cochran of Westfield. She received a trophy donated by Glenview Industries of Canton and a $50 check from Autumn Mist Goat Farm, Wellsboro.

Grand champion overall breeds dairy doe trophy was donated by Cynthia Hawk and was awarded to Kate Lynn Johnson of Wellsboro, with her Nubian doe. Rachael Cochran, Westfield, received reserve champion with her Alpine doeling.

Tioga County has gone beyond the more familiar dairy goat show, and includes a wide variety of goat classes besides in their program. The grand champion market goat trophy donated by Ruff Acres of Erin N.Y. was awarded to Angie Schreck, Mansfield. Citizens and Northern Bank purchased Angie's market wether.

Reserve champion market goat, owned by Joseph Sepiol of Wellsboro, was purchased by Rockwell's feed store of Wellsboro. The top-selling market goat was purchased by Citizens and Northern Bank for $4.75 per pound and was owned by Allison Gorenflo of Lawrenceville. Michael Grand, Wellsboro, donated the grand champion banner and the reserve GC banner was donated by Family Hair Styling, Wellsboro.

to Angie Schreck's Nubian doeling, Lady. The trophy was donated by Ruff Acres, Erin, N.Y.

In the 4-H miniature goat classes, Kyle VanDusen of Tioga was awarded a champion trophy from the Osceola Big M.

The 4-H members also trained some of their goats to pack and or pull. In the pack goat competition, Jeb Weaver received a trophy with his goat, Maude. Carquest of Wellsboro donated the trophy. In the goat cart, level 1, Cassandra Banik of Wellsboro, placed top in her class with her goat Sammy. Cassandra received a trophy donated by Carquest of Wellsboro.

The 3rd annual open goat show was held Aug. 10 at the Tioga County Fair.

Timothy Grube and his wife, Roxanne of Elizabethtown judged the show.

More than 66 goats from 27 exhibitors were entered in the show. The county's first 4-H goat show was held in conjunction with the open goat show. The show has several divisions from the more familiar dairy division to market, meat breeding stock, miniature, hair production, cart pack, and just for fun division classes.

Grand champion overall breeds, dairy doe was awarded to Jeremy Trowbridge of Sabinsville with his Nubian doe. Jeremy Trowbridge also took reserve overall breeds with his

America's Top Equestrians Return To Harrisburg

Oct. 14-23 For Pa. National Horse Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania National Horse show, one of Pennsylvania's premier sporting events and America's largest indoor all-breed horse show, will conduct its 54th annual 10-day competition Oct. 14-23.

Since its inception in 1945, the event, at Harrisburg's State Farm Show Complex has raised more than $1.4 million for youth literacy, educational, and recreational programs through the Harrisburg Kiwanis Youth Foundation.

Each year, hundreds of thousands of hunter, jumper, and equitation riders across the U.S. compete year-long for an invitation to join the best of the best at "The Show Of Champions" in Harrisburg. The Pennsylvania National Horse Show is a celebration of horse sports, featuring more than 1,600 of America's top horses and riders, unique entertainment, shopping, food, and family fun.

Seven national championships are decided at the PNHS. The American Horse Shows Association/Black Entertainment Television National Junior Jumper Championship conducted Saturday night, Oct. 16, is one of only three USA Junior Olympics-Equestrian events and features

America's top under-18 jumper riders. More than 200 young riders culminate a year of competition on Sunday, Oct. 17, as they vie for the American Horse Shows Association/Eisners & Pessoa National Hunter Seat Equitation Medal Championship — one of the few events where the rider, rather than the horse, is judged.

Many of the young national champions go on to represent the U.S. in international and Olympic Grand Prix competition of the type featured at the PNHS nightly Tuesday, Oct. 19 through closing Saturday, Oct. 23. Spectators thrill to America's best Grand Prix jumper riders, including Olympic competitors, striving to win more than $115,000 in prize money by clearing jumps up to five feet high and six feet wide.

A week of varied equestrian competition begins Monday, Oct. 18, with Hunt Night, an evening of friendly rivalry for the mid-Atlantic's top fox hunting clubs. For about 150 years, fox hunting has remained a strong tradition in Pennsylvania, home to more hunts than any other state except Virginia. Teams and individuals test their hunting skills over fences, in a Parade of Hounds, the North American Fox Hunting Horn Blowing Championships, and in races over fences for feisty and adorable Jack Russell terriers.

Spectators will be treated to an amazing variety of equestrian athleticism. Wednesday through Saturday nights, Oct. 20-23, the world-famous Budweiser Clydesdales will entertain spectators with the precision maneuvers of the celebrated eight-horse hitch. High-flying Grand Prix jumpers, fiery, high-stepping American Saddlebreds and their tiny Hackney pony cousins, thundering draft horses in hitches of one to six, easy-going western pleasure horses, and roadster horses and ponies who race around the ring at top speed take turns delighting and entertaining the audience. The $50,000 Budweiser Grand Prix de Penn National, the show's richest and most prestigious event Saturday night, Oct. 23, will be broadcast on ESPN.

The show's special exhibitions include an extraordinary, whimsical demonstration of the classical equestrian art of dressage by Todd Bryan, Saturday night, Oct. 16 and again Friday night, Oct. 22. "The Sport of Kings" will thrill spectators as teams from Harrisburg and Lancaster play a heart-pounding chukker of fast-paced polo, Wednesday night, Oct. 20. Always a crowd favorite, Jack Russell terriers race over fences Monday and Friday nights, Oct. 18 and 22.

Special family days at the horse show are Saturday, Oct. 10 and Friday night, Oct. 16. On both days, when competition and events are geared to kids, children will enjoy free pony rides and face painting. On Saturday, Oct. 10, one child under age 12 is admitted free with a paying adult.

An invitational class for local therapeutic riders will be Tuesday night, Oct. 19. Horse babies age two and under will be showcased in a futurity for young American Saddlebred horses Saturday afternoon, Oct. 23. The Valley Forge Military Academy & College Band will appear at the horse show on Saturday night, Oct. 23, as it has done for the last 51 years.

More than 50 boutiques travel from Palm Beach, Aspen and points in between to display their jewelry, crafts, clothing, gifts and horse equipment and give spectators an early start on their Christmas shopping.

The show begins about 8 a.m. daily, and runs until 6 p.m. Oct. 14, 15 and 17, and until about 11 p.m. Oct. 16 and 18-23. General admission is $10, $5 for seniors and children ages 12 and under, except Oct. 23, when all general admission tickets are $10. Reserved seating is available Saturday night, Oct. 23. Prices range from $15 to $25. All performance passes with reserved seating Oct. 23 are $100.

For more information or a free brochure, phone (717) 975-3677.

The world-famous Budweiser Clydesdale eight-horse hitch entertains audiences the last four nights of the Pennsylvania National Horse Show, Oct. 14-23 at the State Farm Show Complex, Harrisburg. On Thursday and Friday nights, the first 25 families through the gate can pose for a souvenir photo with one of the gentle giants.

Information about the soybean checkoff request for referendum

According to the Soybean Promotion and Research Program, an automatic producer review of the soybean checkoff program is required every five years. This automatic review provision in the law requires the U.S. Department of Agriculture to conduct a request for referendum. Individuals eligible to participate in the request for referendum are defined as any person engaged in the growing of soybeans in the United States who owns or shares ownership and risk of loss of such soybeans, specifically from January 1, 1997 through November 16, 1999.

Eligible individuals who do not want a referendum need not take any action.

Eligible individuals who desire a referendum may request such by completing Request Form LS-51-1, available at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) office in the county where FSA maintains and processes the producer's administrative farm records. Producers who do not participate in FSA programs may obtain a form at the county office that serves the county where the producer owns or rents land. Eligible individuals may obtain a form in person, by mail or by facsimile from October 20, 1999 to November 16, 1999. All completed forms must be returned by November 16, 1999 to the FSA office, either in person or by facsimile. Forms returned by mail must be postmarked by November 16, 1999 and received in the county FSA office by December 1, 1999.

For more information on request for referendum procedures, please contact your local FSA office.

Human Response To Cholesterol: It's Up To The Individual

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Dr. Robert G. Elkin, newly appointed head of the Penn State Poultry Science Department, believes there is a genetic basis as to why some people can eat many eggs regularly and suffer no ill effects.

It's in the genes. He related the story reported in the March 28, 1991 New England Journal of Medicine about the "Egg Man" — a male in his 80s who consumed 25 eggs a day — a day! — for 15 years in a row. Normal people, according to Elkin, absorb between 29 percent and 80 percent of the cholesterol, mainly located in the egg yolk, into their bodies (most average about 56 percent). The 88-year-old man simply "shunted" the cholesterol through bile acids in his body, out his stools. The man was clinically recorded as absorbing only 18 percent of the cholesterol — way below the average.

There are no easy answers to explain why this happened, Elkin told almost two dozen poultry producers and agri-industry representatives Monday afternoon at the Penn State-sponsored Poultry Science and Health Seminar at Kreider's Restaurant, Manheim.

Elkin believes it's a combination of factors, mostly involving human genetics, which will pave the way for further understanding.

Elkin, an expert in cholesterol and nutrient metabolism, spoke about his role as new poultry science department head, a position he accepted in July in the wake of the resignation of William Weaver, former head.

Elkin, a native of Nutley, N.J., is a Penn State alumnus, having been graduated with a bachelor's in animal science in 1975. He received a master's in poultry nutrition from Purdue in 1977 and a doctorate from the same university, in nutritional biochemistry, in 1981.

Elkin has been a faculty member of the Purdue Department of Animal Sciences until now.

Elkin spoke about the work he has done in studying cholesterol in eggs.

Elkin cautioned that, contrary to what sometimes is reported by the media, Americans in general can handle dietary cholesterol — most of them, anyway. However, there is a select percent — about 20 percent of the population — that may increase their serum cholesterol level, sometimes significantly, when eating eggs, which could prove dangerous to their health.

Unfortunately, there is no other way to test whether a person responds or not unless they submit to a clinical test. "The cholesterol test is highly individualized," Elkin said. "There's no way we can quickly tell whether you'd be a responder or not."

The egg yolk, where the cholesterol resides, includes "two hepatically synthesized lipoproteins that comprise about 84 percent of the yolk dry matter," Elkin noted. Those proteins include very low-density lipoprotein (VLDL), about 60 percent, which makes up the source of virtually all yolk cholesterol, and vitellogenin (about 24

Dr. Robert G. Elkin, newly appointed head of the Penn State Poultry Science Department, second from right, spoke to about two dozen poultry producers and agri-industry representatives Monday afternoon at the Penn State-sponsored Poultry Science and Health Seminar at Kreider's Restaurant, Manheim. York Fair Junior Market Steer Show Gets 'Iced'

JOYCE BUPP

York Co. Correspondent
"Ice" was hot at the York Fair's junior market steer show, taking the grand champion honors for 10-year-old exhibitor Kim Long. The Airville junior 4-H'er's crossbred steer was purchased from Montana, where the chilly weather earned him the "cold as ice" moniker. When the weather was far from cold during the past summer's heat extremes, "Ice" was chilled down with cooling fans in the Long family's barn on their Airville farm to keep him eating and growing to his show weight of 1,265 pounds. The champion win was the first for the third-year junior exhibitor.

Reserve champion Tammi Grubb likewise took the fan approach to battle summer-heat problems on her beef animals. She took the pink rosette placing with "Leo," an Angus-Maine crossbred who weighed in at 1,157 pounds.

Entry numbers in the junior market steer show were down, as more exhibitors this year seemed to be aiming at Farm Show competition. Those younger beef animals competed in the increasingly-popular Prospect Class, with more than 20 entries this year.

Champion of the Prospect Steer runoff was Tammi Grubb with the heavyweight class winner, an Angus-Chianina-Maine crossbred named "Jazz."

The Supreme Heifer of the open class beef exhibits at the York Fair was the Hereford winner owned by Margeaux Fireline. "Western Gem" is a May '98 heifer. In addition to exhibiting her top placing heifer at recent national and state shows, Margeaux is the state Polled Hereford Queen.

Glencoe sold for $762, or $6 per pound, to W.J. Brant for Chemgro Seeds.

The reserve champion county-bred lamb owned by Molly Enos sold for $424, or $4 per pound, to Swank's Steel City Shows.

The champion junior showman lamb owned by Breann Ritchey of Hyndman sold for $342, or $3 per pound, to Quality Farm and Fleet of Somerset.

The champion senior showman lamb owned by the late Christopher Shultz of Rockwood sold for $2,074, or $17 per pound, to Walker's Farm Service. The lamb was donated back to the scholarship fund and ultimately, after all bidding on other animals ended, resold 30 more times.

Christopher Shultz, 15, died early on Thursday, Aug. 26, in an all-terrain vehicle accident. Proceeds from reselling the lamb — approximately $6,700 — will benefit his parents Roger and Joan Shultz and sister Nicole.

The High Ridge 4-H Club of which Chris Shultz was its president has begun a memorial fund in his honor.

The grand champion swine owned by Keri Miller of Somerset sold for $1,715, or $7 per pound, to Somerset Trust Company.

The reserve champion swine owned by Gabriel Svonavec of Rockwood sold for $822.25, or $3.25 per pound, to Quality Farm and Fleet.

The champion county-bred swine owned by Heather Will of Somerset sold for $675, or $3 per pound, to Agway, Inc.

The reserve champion county-bred swine, owned by Ryan Will of Somerset, sold for $528.75, or $2.25 per pound, to Lincoln Supply and Equipment Company.

The champion junior showman swine owned by Janee Romesberg of Rockwood sold for $480, or $2 per pound, to Scott College.

The champion senior showman swine owned by Lucas Svonavec of Rockwood sold for $392, or $1.75 per pound, to Paul Bunyan.

The group champion swine owned by Nicole Baer of Somerset sold for $500, or $2.50 per pound, to Super City Manufacturing of Somerset.

Angus and Supreme Champion youth beef breeding heifer at the York Fair was exhibited by Hope Long. Displaying the banner is her sister, Kim Long.

Kim Long claimed the York Fair's youth market steer champion honors with her Montana-born crossbred, "Ice." Brad Bishard displays the banner presented by the fair.

A PA Charolais Association calf-chain calf took breed honors in the York Fair's junior show for exhibitor Philip Baer, who won the winner's mother in an essay contest. His winning calf went home from the fair with Katie Myers, center, current winner of the calf-chain project. Representing the state Charolais Association, the project sponsor, is John Myers.

Central Championship Show Honors Exhibitors

GAIL STROCK

Mifflin Co. Correspondent
HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — For Jim Grove of Autumn-View Holsteins in Petersburg, the Central Pennsylvania Championship Show Aug. 21 at the Huntingdon Country Fairgrounds didn't end with the selection of grand champion. Grove kept showing his Holsteins again and again to win top honors in the best three females, produce of dam, and dam and daughter classes and finally the premier exhibitor award.

The premier breeder award went to the Steve and Marion Jones family of SWJ Farms. Scott Jones won reserve grand champion in the youth show.

Delmar C. and Larry Zimmerman won grand champion of the open show with their senior 3-year-old, Mu-Ke Linjet Megan. Grand champion of the youth show went to Desirae Hillegass and her senior 3-year-old, Locker-Lane Emory Babe. Reserve grand of the open show went to Ronald Hough and C Loch-An Brae Sky Nocho, the cow he entered in the 125,000-pound class. Reserve grand of the youth show went to Scott Jones and SWJ Encore Victoria, a 5-year-old.

In the junior heifer show, Amanda Cessna won three out of the four champion honors. Her fall yearling, Oakhaven Milan Patience, was junior champion of both the open and youth shows, and her fall calf, Brush-Creek-Vu BC Kasper-ET, was selected as youth reserve junior champion. Breezy Farms, owned by Rob and Gary Kocher, showed their summer yearling, Breezy-Farms Lead Donna-twin, to win reserve junior champion of the open show.

Show judge John Burket from East Freedom said he participated in this show 28 years ago and complimented the success of the show, as did Pennsylvania's secretary of agriculture, Samuel E. Hayes Jr. John A. Foster Jr. and Alice L. Foster of Globe Run Farm in Petersburg chaired the show committee.

Following is a list of show placings:

slaughter steer packer was closed much of the week for remodeling. Late in the week, torrential rains from Hurricane Floyd slowed trading. However, packer needs were enough to push Thursday's small run slightly higher. By Friday morning, Western feeders had yet to trade the bulk of their showlists with only minimal trading slightly higher from 66.00-66.50 and 105.00 dressed Holstein steers ended the week .50-1.00 higher. Slaughter cows closed firm to .50 higher, after selling lower earlier in the week. Slaughter bulls finished mostly 1.00 higher on early week gains. Supply included 40 percent slaughter steers, 3 percent slaughter heifers, 46 percent slaughter cows, 4 percent slaughter bulls, with the balance made up of feeder cattle.

SLAUGHTER STEERS: High Choice and Prime 2-4 1200-1415 lbs 65.60-69.25. Choice 2-3 1135-1450 lbs 63.50-66.75, few high dressing 1-2 up to 68.00. Select and low Choice 2-3 1075-1540 lbs 58.00-65.00. Select 1-3 960-1400 lbs 54.00-61.75, load returning to feed 1115-1200 lbs 60.00-63.25.

HOLSTEIN STEERS: High Choice and Prime 2-3 1325-1570 lbs 57.10-59.25. Choice 2-3 1270-1575 lbs 54.50-57.75, few 1610-1645 lbs 52.00-53.10. Select and low Choice 2-3 1205-1575 lbs 52.85-55.25; package 1653 lbs 49.75. Select 1-2 1170-1400 lbs 50.75-52.00.

SLAUGHTER HEIFERS: Few Choice 2-4 1060-1240 lbs 61.60-63.50. Select and low Choice 2-3 1050-1285 lbs 57.75-62.25.

SLAUGHTER COWS: PERCENT LEAN WEIGHT BULK LOW DRESSING

Angus Champion Takes Grand

Reserve champion honors went to Tammi Grubb, Hanover, on her champion crossbred, also a light heavyweight.

QUICK-START

The Pax QUICK-START™ pan feeding system grows chicks into FINISHED broilers efficiently.

Start chicks with the feeder resting on the floor and the feed pan entirely filled. The Pax QUICK-START™ pan provides easy access to plenty of fresh feed - with no accumulation of stale feed in the drop tube - attracting even the smallest chicks to begin feeding right away.

Feed Storage and Delivery Systems

ON THE FLOOR
With the feeder resting on the floor the feed level tube is raised to present feed in the entire pan without over filling like other typical floor feeders.

WINCHED
When the feeder is winched the feed level tube automatically lowers to your pre-selected finishing level.

Flexible Auger for Low Volume, Standard Volume, High Volume, as well as High Moisture (up to 25%) and pellet applications.

Gov. Ridge Announces $5.3 Million In Interim Drought Assistance For Pennsylvania's Farmers

costs;

• transports donated hay from the Midwest to Pennsylvania; and

• waives state fees on Pennsylvania farmers, such as testing fees at the state's agricultural labs.

Gov. Ridge also amended his July 20 drought emergency declaration to ensure that all 67 Pennsylvania counties can benefit from the interim assistance package.

A rebate plan will be created to partially reimburse farmers for their costs in purchasing hay and, if needed hauling it from out of state during the fall and winter seasons.

A $60 rebate would be provided for each ton of hay purchased in state. A $50 rebate would be provided for each ton of hay purchased out of state. A $25 rebate for each ton of hay would be provided to help defray the long-distance hauling costs.

This rebate plan would contribute to the purchase of approximately 60,000 tons of purchased hay.

The state Department of Agriculture has secured 1,300 tons of hay donated by Wisconsin to help Pennsylvania farmers. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will pay to transport this donated hay from Wisconsin to Pennsylvania. The donated hay will be stored at Fort Indiantown Gap, Lebanon County, for distribution to drought-stricken farmers.

The departments of Agriculture and Labor and Industry will waive nearly $300,000 in user fees farmers pay. These include veterinary laboratory diagnostic, pesticide license, seed certification fees and seasonal farm labor camp registration fees. Fees for testing forages and feeds will continue to be provided free of charge.

Hay purchase and transportation were top priorities from Pennsylvania's farmers identified by all three major Pennsylvania farm organizations and the Governor expressed his appreciation to the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, the Pennsylvania State Grange and the Pennsylvania Farmer's Union for working with the Department of Agriculture to suggest ways to help Pennsylvania farmers.

Gov. Ridge called for federal grants for Pennsylvania farmers on Aug. 18, in a letter to congressional leaders and Pennsylvania's congressional delegation asking for federal grants to help Pennsylvania farmers. He noted that agriculture is Pennsylvania's No. 1 industry with nearly 50,000 family farms and $44 billion generated each year.

"The emergency allocation by Gov. Ridge is good news," state Agriculture Secretary Samuel Hayes said. "While there is no easy response or 'silver-bullet' solution for the drought and its long-lasting effects, it will be possible to provide a good measure of hay and transportation assistance for our dairy and livestock industry later this fall and winter."

Guidelines for the hay assistance program will be available on Oct. 1. Details also will be available on the department's website off the Pennsylvania homepage at www.state.pa.us or directly at www.pda.state.pa.us.

MARSHALL RYEGRASS

Cold-Weather Tolerance!

Dairy producers report increased milk production when using Marshall Ryegrass over other winter forages. In addition, dairy & cattle producers report Marshall Ryegrass produces rich, green winter grazing much longer than other varieties - starts earlier in the fall and continues to give hearty grazing deep into spring.

In Cold Weather tests from agricultural universities that included all leading annual ryegrass varieties, Marshall ranked #1 for winter hardiness in 22 out of 24 tests.

Planting Information For Marshall Ryegrass

Although conditions and methods vary from area to area, chiseling followed by disking generally prepares a good seedbed for most winter annual programs. It is best to eliminate surface vegetation and breaks up clods into a firm smooth seedbed. It is important that the seed come into contact with soil and receive sufficient light for seedling development.

Seeding: A pasture seeder or grain drill does the best job and lets you cut the broadcast seeding rate by a third to a half. Generally, your planting should be shallow, not more than a 1/4" to 1/2". It is important to firm the seedbed with a cultipacker or seed with a pasture seeder with a cultipacker attachment. Plant 25-30 lb. per acre.

Fertility: Fertilizer and lime according to soil test recommendations.

FOR MAXIMUM PRODUCTION OF MARSHALL RYEGRASS

General Practices:

- ✓ If planted in autumn, allow first growth to obtain 8"-10" in height.
- ✓ Leave grass at 3"-4" so it will recover 50% faster.
- ✓ If cutting for hay, cut at a 3-inch height rather than the 1/2 inch height for Kentucky 31.
- ✓ If cutting for silage, cut at a 3-inch height rather than the 1/2 inch height for Kentucky 31 grass mixture.

Grazing: Overgrazing in the fall may reduce production in the spring when your cows need it most for milk production and rebreeding. Do not let winter annual pasture varieties get below three inches. And be cautious of undergrazing since it often results in lower nutrient values. Excessive accumulation of winter legume growth may often result in more winterkill.

East Central District Show Posts Champions

BEAVER SPRINGS (Snyder Co.) — The East Central District Dairy Show was conducted Aug. 10 here at the Beaver Community Fairgrounds.

One hundred and fifty-two 4-H and FFA animals were catalogued for the show. Type judge was Rick Allen. Erin Ritter served as the showmanship judge and Nancy arrett was the fitting judge.

Samantha Troxell of Middleburg in Snyder County was the owner of both of the champions in the Guernsey and Milking Shorthorn breeds. The FFA member's 1-year-old cow sired by Dan BA Lee WCA Starwars was the champion in the Guernsey breed and a junior calf sired by GMC Redpath Justin was the champion in the Milking Shorthorn show. The reserve champion in the Guernsey show was a dry cow owned by Columbia County 4-H member Dayton Berger of Orangeville.

In the Ayrshire show, a senior 2-year-old owned by Jennifer McWilliams was the grand champion. The champion was sired by Bonnie Brae Heligo. The West Snyder FFA member also owned the reserve junior champion, a fall yearling. The reserve champion of the Ayrshire show was owned by Montour County 4-H member Jason Bird. Jason's intermediate calf was sired by Forever Schoon MM Cornelius.

was sired by Towpath Dotson Jessie-ET. The junior champion was a junior calf owned by Mifflinburg FFA member Selena Hollenbach. The reserve junior champion was owned by Melissa McWilliams. The best animal owned and bred was owned by Andrew Walter of Lewisburg. The Union County 4-H member's senior calf was sired by R Hart Christians Pride ET.

There was one big winner in the Jersey Show. That was Renee Norman from Liberty. The Tioga County 4-H member was the owner of the grand champion, junior champion, and best owner bred junior animal and the reserve junior champion. The grand champion Jersey was a junior 2-year-old, sired by Greenwood Poseidon ET and was also awarded the best udder award for the breed. The reserve champion was owned by Emily Norman also of Liberty. Emily's senior 2-year-old was sired by Comfort Royal Alf and was named the best senior owner-bred animal of the Jersey Show. Renee Norman's winter calf was named the junior champion and best owner bred junior animal. It was sired by AU Lester Topkick-ET. Her spring yearling was named as the reserve champion and was sired by Easton Alf Klassic ET.

Jennifer McWilliams was the owner of the grand champion Holstein. The senior 3-year-old was the big winner of the show. Her cow was also named the best owner bred senior animal of the Holstein and East Central District Show and the cow having the best udder of the Holstein breed. The sire of the champion was Boulet Charles-ET. The reserve champion of the Holstein show was owned by Randy Wolfe of Northumberland County. The 4-H member's junior 2-year-old was sired by Highlight Mr. Mark Cinder-ET.

In the Junior Holstein Show, J. Daniel Kenamond of the Mifflinburg FFA was the big winner. His winter calf was named both the junior champion and the best owner bred animal of the Holstein and District dairy show. The calf's sire was Carnation Counselor-ET. The reserve junior champion was owned by Brenda Shultz of Montour County. Her winter yearling was sired by To-Mar Blackstars Hero-ET. Jake Myers of Sire Power presented the champion owner-breeder trophies at the show.

Lancaster Chamber Announces 23rd Annual Agriculture Banquet

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster Chamber of Commerce & Industry's Agriculture Committee will hold its 23rd Annual Agriculture-Industry Banquet Tuesday, November 23, 5:30 p.m., at the Lancaster Host Resort. The theme for this year's banquet is "A New Perspective."

Max Armstrong, one of America's best-known and most widely followed agriculture journalists will be the keynote speaker. He has conducted daily broadcasts with colleague Orion Samuelson on Chicago's WGN AM Radio 720 for more than 20 years. The two also can be heard each day on roughly 500 radio stations through their Tribune Agri-Voice broadcasts, the Farming America radio show, and the National Farm Report programs.

The banquet's master of ceremonies is John M. Blanchfield, manager of agriculture banking and rural development for the American Bankers Association, Washington, D.C.

Over 600 agriculture industry leaders and farmers are expected to attend the dinner, which celebrates local and statewide agriculture. Special presentations will be made to the Century Farm Award and George C. Delp Ag Leadership Award recipients.

Sponsorships for the banquet are available and range from gold sponsor packages to banner sponsors. Individual tickets cost $40.

Deadline to register is October 22. For more information on sponsorships or tickets, contact Brent Landis at 397-3531 ext. 62 or e-mail him at blandis@lcci.com.

Burrell Tops Market Lamb Shows At York Fair

"Jethro" and exhibitor Jen Flinchbaugh took the supreme champion ram honors in the York Fair's youth breeding sheep show with her winning, homebred Southdown.

The champion Suffolk ewe in the youth breeding sheep show at the York Fair was named the supreme champion for breeder and exhibitor Travis Flory.

Mary Zeigler, Dallestown had the supreme champion ewe in the youth show of the wool breeds.

York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Mike Burrell reached a longtime goal in his final year of 4-H competition at the York Fair, snagging the grand champion market lamb in the open class with a homebred ewe.

The Dover junior exhibitor also claimed the top honors in the junior show, as the reserve open champion took the youth division's championship. He further claimed the top pairs award in the youth show with an additional two entries.

The open class champion, "Filby," is a purebred Suffolk from Burrell's 20-head flock, developed during his decade of youth project participation. The freshmen at Messiah College, aiming at a medical career, the 19-year-old plans to continue a developing his flock as a senior exhibitor. Most of Burrell's numerous champion ewes over the years have been returned to his flock for breeding use, developing the bloodlines which continue to put him in the winner's spot.

"I've learned a lot through this, mainly that it's a mind game, using your head, and it's hard work," Burrell observed, reflecting on his successful 4-H career.

Reserve champion of the market lamb junior show was Jen Flinchbaugh of York. The Penn State freshman is also a veteran 4-H sheep exhibitor and took the reserve honors with her homebred, crossed wether. With her youth background in livestock breeding and exhibiting, Flinchbaugh is majoring in animal bio-science and considers future work in genetics research.

Reserve champion pair of the junior show was exhibited by Rick Jones, East Berlin. Jones, 12, took the runner-up honors with a pair of crossbreds.

Supremes Named At Junior Sheep Show

York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — A pair of homebred animals took top honors for their 4-H owners in the junior sheep breeding show at the York Fair last week.

Travis Flory, Red Lion, topped the runoff among breeds to earn the supreme champion ewe banner with his Suffolk division winner. It was the second supreme honor that Flory, 14, has garnered during his five years of junior competition.

In the ram classes, it was Jen Flinchbaugh and her Southdown,

"Jethro," who took the purple supreme banner over the lineup of breed winners.

For intermediate age exhibitors Joe Emenheiser, 15, and Mark Brown, 14, the York Fair's junior shepherding contest gave them a chance to display their skills and knowledge, as they bested all other age winners for the top Shepherds' Class awards. The contest includes blocking and grooming, identification of feeds and equipment, judging a class of lambs and written management tests.

This Year, Solanco Grand Market Champs Reverse Roles

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Once upon a time (only a year ago, actually), Allison Hughes won champion and her friend Tiffany Dean took home reserve of the market lamb show at Solanco Fair.

A year later, this time on Wednesday afternoon, they reversed roles, with Tiffany taking home champion and Allison the reserve.

Tiffany, 13, daughter of Gary and Joan Dean, Strasburg, showed her wether, Lieberthal (named in honor of Phillies baseball catcher Mike Lieberthal) to grand champion market lamb.

Tiffany, in the seventh grade at Martin Meylin School, exhibited the 126-pound champion from the light heavyweight division. The 4-H Woolies and swine club member has won previously at the fair.

Tiffany walks her lambs every other day for about a half hour. She plans to show at West Lampeter Community Farm Show and the state Farm Show.

Tiffany picked out the champion from Danny Schlichter, Washington Courthouse, Ohio, through a sale conducted by Tim Fleener, Lebanon County, according to Tiffany's father, Gary.

Allison Hughes paraded her 123-pound reserve champion, the reserve of the light heavyweight show, at Solanco. Allison, 13, is the daughter of Chet and Marie Hughes, Lancaster.

The Martin Meylin School eighth grader showed her wether, Will, to reserve. The lamb was named in honor of Will from the "Will and Grace" TV show, Allison's favorite.

Allison had help from her father, Chet, when they selected the lamb from Don Witt, Champion, Fayette County. Allison said she walks the sale lamb every other day for about a half hour.

Allison will be showing at Lampeter and, perhaps, at state Farm Show.

Show judge was Lee Wagner, Easton. Wagner, a Dorset breeder and flock manager of Sunrise Farm Dorsets, emphasized the market is looking for good frame size and muscle pattern. Wagner, who was livestock superintendent for Delaware Valley College, said the lamb must have style yet with a balanced profile in addition to meat and muscle.

There were 73 market lambs and 41 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.

Colored Breeds Competition At Solanco Fair

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Since she was two months old, the show ring for Rebecca Nolan has been a romper room — sort of.

Since she was at least three years old, Rebecca has been showing dairy cattle in the ring. In so short of a time, watching her family show animals at Solanco and other fairs has been her classroom.

Rebecca, 14, daughter of Sharon and Rob Nolan, Cochranville, took her veteran experience with her to the Solanco Fair Wednesday. Rebecca, Manor Dairy 4-H'er, paraded her Ayrshire cow Ola (S&M Ayr Irs Ola), a 5-Year-Old, to champion of the largest division of dairy animals in the ring — 32 — during the colored breeds competition.

The Nolan family recently returned from the Florida State Fair, said Rebecca. Rebecca, in the ninth grade at Octorara High School, feeds and exercises Ola (S: Maple Dell Chads IRS and bred by Mike S. Zook) regularly.

Rebecca has gone to several fairs this season, including Kimberton and Goshen. Upcoming are several more, including All American next week and the Unionville Fair.

But the family shows "all over the country," said Rebecca, including Kentucky, Wisconsin, and other places.

The secret to success in the ring, according to Rebecca, is not to over- or underfeed the cows. "We try to get them to look their best," she said, including spending time washing and clipping them.

"We practice by putting a halter on her and get her used to the halter and leash," Rebecca said. Getting Ola ready takes about an hour a day.

The hardest part of the experience? "Getting her head up, because of the weight of her head on your hand," said Rebecca.

Rebecca also won junior champion with a winter yearling, Dreamnol Rigil Olea (S: Covey-Palmyra Willy Rigil-ET and bred by Rebecca).

In the Ayrshire show Wednesday, reserve champion went to Rob and Bonnie Wentworth, Quarryville, for their 2-year-old, Wentworth Farm FarmSweet Vidalia (S: Daltondale's Kellogg and bred by Rob and Bonnie Wentworth). The Wentworths also won best udder and were named premier breeder.

Ken Findley Family was named premier exhibitor.

Nicole Welk also won the junior champion with the same animal. Reserve went to the spring yearling shown by Danielle Bishop, SBF Kent Nadia (S: Greenwood Skyline Kent and bred by ST Brigins Farm).

In Brown Swiss competition, grand champion went to the aged cow shown by Joshua Hushon, Lake Jane Pebbles (S: Victory Acres Jubilation Emory and bred by Ken Lohr). Reserve went to the 2-year-old shown by H.E. Heidel and Sons, G S Jet Tiger-ET (S: Forest Lawn Simon Jetway and bred by G S Associates).

In the junior show, Joshua picked up champion with the grand champion. Reserve went to the 3-year-old shown by Joshua Miller, Kilclany Acres Jessica (S: Johann Luckymann-ET-TW and bred by Kelly Kilgores).

Milking Shorthorn champion was exhibited by James Findley, a 3-year-old, Miss Kourtney's Master Cricket (S: Red Cedar Master and bred by Lizzie Moser). Reserve was shown by James, a 2-year-old, Miss Kourtney's Peerless Kasey (S: Meriville Peerless and bred by Lizzie Moser).

Peerless and bred by Lizzie Moser).

There were 40 exhibitors at the colored breeds show. At the start of the show, 73 animals were entered and about 65 competed.

Judge for the show was Mike Kunkle, Sire Power technician from Jonestown. Kunkle, former member of the state 4-H judging team, raises Brown Swiss and Holstein.

The list seems endless, and this year's forages don't make it any easier. That's why we at Consolidated Nutrition have been hard at work developing the new UltraBALANCE Dairy Feeds line.

Forages are the starting point for every ration and they are very complex things. How fast and efficiently does the cow digest them and utilize their nutrients? What kind of protein do they have? Is it highly soluble or slower degrading? What is the amino acid profile? What kind of concentrate supplementation is best suited to match up with the forage base?

These are the questions we at Consolidated Nutrition spend an awful lot of time, research and effort trying to answer. With the industry's largest herd of rumen cannulated cows, we are hard at work running "in rumen" degradation, digestion, and absorption rates trials. This enables us to better evaluate this year's forages and determine the best and most efficient ways to make the most out of them.

Family Weaves 18th Century Crafts Into Fabric Of Lives

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) —

Ask Donna Haines anything you want to know about spinning, weaving, and knitting.

Donna knows it.

She can do it.

In fact, Donna teaches these skills and much more to people from ages 2 to 90.

Teaching two-year-old 18th century crafts may seem a bit mindboggling, but Donna believes that children of that era grew up helping their parents and it became a natural part of their lives.

"Two-year-olds can pull the wool apart and drop spindles, and five-year-olds can hand card wool," Donna said.

With a master's degree in elementary education, Donna, a former school teacher and director for a Montessori school, runs a day care with the goal of teaching 18th century crafts.

She uses Montessori methods of instructing young children to develop their own initiatives.

"I don't want these crafts to be lost. It is important to pass them on to the next generation," Donna said.

Some of the activities include hand dyeing by using natural materials. Children learn how boiled onion skins, grasses, flowers, and walnuts can be used to produce different colors and shadings. They insert their own projects and pull them out at different times to see the variations in shading.

First graders learn to crochet and knit. Children of all ages help care for the sheep and help work in the garden. Some of the other projects include bird house making, crystal making, tin smithing, candlemaking, wooden crafts, and wreath making with pinecones.

Donna's interest in teaching wool crafts was piqued when her three-year-old daughter Amy (now 13) wanted a pet lamb.

"I tried to convince her to get a kitten or a dog," Donna said. "But she wouldn't budge."

Donna purchased the lamb with the belief that "if things didn't work, we could have lamb for dinner."

That was 10 years ago and the family still hasn't had lamb for dinner. Instead, Amy and her 11-year-old sister Stacy continue to increase the flock and, like their mother, have become adept at spinning, weaving, and knitting.

Donna said that she was raised in a family where everyone did some type of craft, such as rug braiding, metal working, quilting, etc.

Donna decided to take up spinning and weaving and taught herself to spin.

"It was extremely frustrating, but I was tenacious," Donna said of the skill that she continues to perfect. In fact, of all the crafts she does, spinning is her favorite.

She took some weaving lessons at a loom store. A coverlet took the grand prize at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

"My ancestors came from Ireland and Scotland, where they were accomplished spinners and weavers. My great-great-great grandfather brought the jacquard process (fabric with an intricately woven pattern) to the U.S. from Scotland," Donna said of her heritage.

So when her daughter started raising Romney breed, known for high quality handspinning wool, Donna already knew the basics of how to spin and weave.

All her teaching is done hands-on. Students assist when sheep are sheared twice a year. The wool is washed to remove natural grease and dirt. Carding blends the various types of wool fibers and straightens the fibers so they lie in the same direction. Spinning extends the fibers to turn the wool into yarn. Weaving produces cloth by interlacing two sets of yarn. On a loom, threads running lengthwise are the warp, while threads running crosswise in the loom form the weft. As each warp thread passes through the loom, it is raised and lowered by the loom. A weft (filling) thread is shot through the opening created in the warp, thereby forming a woven fabric.

The Haines sell wool, spun yarns, and fleeces. They also make blankets and other woven items to sell.

In addition to wool, the Haines grow flax to spin into linen. Flax is planted in April, harvested 100 days later, and hung to dry for later use. According to Donna, one handwoven linen outfit requires an whole-acre of flax.

As Donna spins, she gives tidbits of information. The flax, after it goes through a heckling process appears to be a wig. In fact, in the 1700s, flax was used to make wigs.

Donna explains that is where the terminology "flaxen hair" originated.

The Germans spun the flax with water to make the fiber stronger and smoother. Flax spun without water such as that made by the English resulted in a more fringed appearance.

"Tow-headed" also has its origin in spinning. A tow refers to coarse, broken flax prepared for spinning.

After the heckling and skutching process, flax is wound into a distaff like cotton candy.

The thinner the spin, the more expensive the linen. In the 18th century linen was used for tea towels, coverlets, and clothing. Each time natural colored linen is washed, it becomes whiter.

For Donna and her daughters' portrayal of the 18th century arts, they dress in clothing handspun from flax and patterned in the exact style of that era. Donna's dress and apron imitate those worn by Pennsylvania German women, and Amy's dress copies that worn by a young girl living in England during that era. The blues and browns of the dress were hand dyed using indigo for the blue and walnuts for the brown linen.

Donna explained that women of the 18th century never put wool next to the skin. Instead, a linen dress was worn beneath a linsey-woolsey (a rough linen or cotton fabric woven with wool) dress with a woolen frock on top.

The Haines work at their projects year-round. Sheep are sheared in the spring and the wool prepared during the summer; linen is harvested and prepared in the fall to use in weaving and knitting during the winter months.

During the fall months, Stacy and Amy are busy showing sheep at Elizabethtown, Denver, New Holland, and Manheim competitions. They also participate in lead line, a competition where they are judged on both modeling clothing made from wool and control in leading a sheep. Last year, Stacy was first in lead line at Manheim Farm Show, and Amy second. The year before, the two flip-flocked in positions.

A few weeks ago at the E-town Fair, Stacy showed the reserve champion Romney and collected two blue ribbons and a trophy. Amy showed the reserve champion Dorset and collected five blue ribbons.

In January, Amy and Stacy head to the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Next year, the Haines plan to participate in a few national shows.

Amy and Stacy are adept at many 18th century crafts and enjoy helping their mother teach day care students. Donna goes to all the elementary schools in the Manheim Central School District and in other districts by request to show sheep and demonstrate spinning techniques. Donna said that she was raised in a family where everyone did some type of craft. Now, she and her daughters continue that tradition. They sell wool, spun yarns, and fleeces. They also make blankets and other woven, crocheted and knitted items to sell.

In addition to wool, the Haines grow flax to spin into linen. Donna explains that the terminology "flaxen hair" originated from flax that is prepared for spinning. Not the "wig" appearance of the flax in the background.

For Donna and her daughters' portrayal of the 18th century arts, they dress in clothing handspun from flax and patterned in the exact style of that era. Donna's dress and apron imitate those worn by Pennsylvania German women, and Amy's dress copies that worn by a young girl living in England during that era. Family Weaves 18-Century Crafts

Museum, Donna also incorporated her daughters into some of the demonstrations the museum holds annually.

In addition to 18th century crafts, Donna was a former Girl Scout leader, coordinated religious education programs, and is a member of the Gaelic (Scot-Irish) Society, in which her daughters play flutes.

The Haines family often take homespun wool and flax to sell at Civil War reenactments.

Not all the girls' activities are related to the 18th century. Both play in the Manheim Central band, Stacy is a cheerleader, and both are members of their church's youth group.

The day care students also learn more than 18th century crafts when under the care of the Haines family. When a preschooler found a dead locust, Donna said, "Let's take that inside to examine under a microscope."

"Everything we do is hands-on," Donna said of her teaching style. "It's how children learn."

Slow Cooking: Is It Safe?

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — With today's busy lifestyle, slow cookers or crock-pots have become a popular way to have dinner ready when you arrive home. In the morning, you just place the food items in the pot and let them cook all day — instant meal at 6 p.m. But, with all the concern about food-borne illness, consumers are questioning the safety of slow cookers.

The USDA has stated that slow cookers are safe, if used properly. Together, the direct heat from the pot, the lengthy cooking time, and the steam created within the tightly covered container increases the temperature quickly enough to destroy the bacteria to make slow-cooking a safe process.

It's important to begin with a clean appliance, utensils, and work area. Keeping all perishable foods in the refrigerator below 40°F until preparation time reduces the chance that bacteria will grow. (Note: If you cut meat and vegetables in advance, keep them in separate containers in the refrigerator. This reduces the risk of cross-contamination.) All of these safe food handling practices assure the food doesn't have a head start on bacterial growth before it's placed in the slow cooker.

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

Well, we and our electronic household gadgets made it through the 9-9-99 computerization concern.

But, we may never make it to the Y2K crisis stage.

Because if one or more of the electronic gadgets around here goes goofy on me, I'm going to use the tried and true method, which—sometimes in desperation—fixes the small magnet in the floats in our milker units when they stick.

Whack 'em with a shovel handle.

Actually, when my computer keyboard began doing weird things to the programs—like giving me a row of "3s" when a zero was struck, or jumping to some other spot on the page when the letters p, t, s, or apostrophe were struck—I was tempted to try a suggestion made by our computer-teacher daughter.

Immerse the keyboard in a bathtub of warm water.

No, no, not to drown the irritating thing—though the idea was sorely tempting. Trying to print payment checks and write columns had become a time-wasting exercise in frustration and impossibility.

No, the idea is to soak loose any dust and possible spills of stuff which may have gotten under a key and created some sort of electronic short. Supposedly, the warm bath loosens any interfering goop and allows the keyboard to function unimpeded once again.

But, of course, then it has to really dry out. And in the rain-forest humidity environment in which this part of the country has existed in recent weeks, it's hard to get even a thin pair of nylon hose dry without throwing them in the dryer. And the dryer didn't seem a viable option for the keyboard. Besides, if the keyboard had a problem, as the computer itself kept telling me at boot-up, then a replacement was in order.

After exhausting reasonably-easy fix-it attempts, I resigned myself to going into battle with the phone menus and voice mail exchanges of 1-800-DOG-GONE computer support. Ultimately, I was assigned an "event" number by a helpful lady support technician, who after coaching me through several fix tries, suggested plugging in another keyboard to make sure that was the problem. And noted that, if it was, a company replacement was possibly in order.

I did. It was.

Next day, in a followup, I got another technician, with no clue as to what the first had done, who wanted me to start switching component plugs around. Even though it seemed the keyboard was the obvious problem.

On deadlines and in a writing time crunch, I nixed playing with component plugs and placed a call to my favorite local computer sales/service people, who warmly and promptly supplied me with a keyboard. First thing I wrote with it was a long letter to the computer company's customer service department.

Meanwhile, if you recently called the farm here, left a message, and have not received a reply, please accept my sincere apologies. Our message machine has an "erase" button, which I punched last week instead of the "play" button. And sent a bunch of messages into electronic eternity.

Oops! Sorry about that.

And, by accident, we have discovered yet another way to irritate innocent phone callers. Put the fax machine in automatic mode. It does cause the fax machine to pick up those calls immediately. And also diverts all phone calls.

Oops! Sorry about that, too.

From the VCR, which operates with lines running across the screens after overheating, to The Farmer's cell phone (which can reach him at an equipment company across the river but not around to the far side of the hill beyond the meadow) to the faceless, voiceless, digital phone menu with which we communicate by punching numbers, I sometimes feel as if we are all victims of what I would label the looming social problem of the fast-approaching Millennium.

Electronics abuse.

Consuming Thoughts

by

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.

Onion lovers will find one of the most popular varieties, Sweet Spanish onions, in abundant supply from September into April. These extra large, high quality onions, grown in southwestern Idaho and eastern Oregon, comprise one-third of the onions on the market during those seven months. There, ideal growing conditions prevail and informed growers take pride in producing a quality product. All are USDA inspected to meet U.S. No. 1 or U.S. No. 2 grade standards for size and quality.

You'll recognize Sweet Spanish onions in the fresh produce counters by their globular shape and bronze colored, parchment-like skin that crackles to the touch. They are often called the "Gentle Giants" for their mild flavor and large size.

At the peak of perfection, Sweet Spanish onions frequently reach a diameter in excess of five inches and often weigh from 1 1/4 to 2 pounds. If onions exceed three inches in diameter, they are classified as "jumbos" in the onion market. This region of Idaho-Oregon also markets a large quantity of 2 1/2 to 3 inches "medium" sized Sweet Spanish onions, which weigh 8 to 10 ounces each.

Sweet Spanish onions are excellent keepers. Simply put them in a crate or mesh bag and place in a dark, dry and cool location that has good ventilation. Once cut, they should be covered with plastic and refrigerated. For longer storage, chop and freeze the onions, ready to conveniently use as needed.

Add these onions to your market list and let them give a boost to your menus. For example Sweet Spanish onions lend their distinctive flavor to this Cajun-style entree. Serve over hot cooked rice, with a tossed green salad and hot Parmesan-topped French bread, for a special dinner.

Cajun Sweet Spanish Onions and Shrimp

3 medium (8 to 10 oz. each) Sweet Spanish onions
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup red bell pepper, diced
1/2 cup green bell pepper, cut in strips
1/2 cup sliced celery
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (28 oz.) tomatoes, diced
1 teaspoon dry basil
1/2 teaspoon seasoning salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
1 pound large cooked shrimp

Food Facts And Myths

Myth: Margarine contains fewer calories than butter.

Fact: Ounce for ounce the calories and total fat content of regular stick margarine and butter are the same — about 100 calories and 12 grams of fat per tablespoon.

Myth: Eating grapefruit or vinegar burns calories.

Fact: Digestion of any food

1/2 cup small pitted ripe olives
4 to 5 cups hot cooked rice

Peel onions and slice in thin wedges. Heat oil in large deep skillet or saucepan. Add onions, peppers, celery, and garlic. Cook, stirring frequently, until vegetables are tender crisp. Add butter or margarine, tomatoes with liquid, basil, salt, pepper and hot pepper sauce. Bring to simmer and cook for 5 to 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Add shrimp and olives. Heat 2 to three minutes. To serve, spoon Cajun Onions and Shrimp over hot cooked rice. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

The healthful benefits of Sweet Spanish onions are often overlooked in lieu of their great eating qualities. Nutritionally, onions supply essential carbohydrates and significant amounts of important nutrients including vitamin C, the B-vitamins and several minerals. And, they're a boost to dieters' menus. One hundred grams of Sweet Spanish onion (about 1/2 cup, chopped) will contribute only 38 calories. So enjoy them in a variety of way, but remember the calories increase to about 310 calories when you eat them in a regular serving of fried onion rings.

If you haven't tried these "gentle giants," plan to include them in your future menus.

uses a small amount of energy. But no food can "burn up" the calories in food or "melt away" body fat.

Myth: Do Vitamin B-17 supplements prevent cancer?

Fact: No, in fact vitamin B-27 also known as laetrile, isn't a vitamin at all. Instead it's a substance derived from the inedible pit of apricots and stone of other fruits.

Myth: Drinking chocolate milk makes kids hyper.

Fact: There is no scientific evidence that the sugar or the very small amount of caffeine in chocolate milk are linked to hyperactivity.

Myth: Drinking milk causes cotton mouth or mucus.

Fact: So called "cotton mouth" is described as dry mouth with thick saliva or a feeling of mucus. The condition has nothing to do with milk. With colds, milk may simply coat the mucus in the mouth, making it seem thicker.

Myth: Honey is natural and won't raise blood sugar levels.

Fact: Natural or not, honey is basically sugar, which acts like other sugars. Like sugar, 1 tablespoon of honey counts as 1 carbohydrate exchange.

Myth: Brown eggs are better for you than white ones.

Fact: The color of the shell has no relation to the egg's nutritional value. Varying from white to deep brown the shell color depends on the breed of the hen.

Myth: Washing rice gets rid of some calories.

Fact: Washing rice before or after cooking doesn't get rid of calories. But it does wash away some important B vitamins added to enriched-fortified rice.

Myth: Hair analysis can diagnose a vitamin or mineral deficiency.

Fact: Except to detect poisonous elements such as lead or arsenic, hair analysis isn't a valid way to check nutritional status.

Myth: Eating gelatin makes your fingernails strong.

Fact: That's wishful thinking, fingernails are mainly dead proteins that get their strength from sulfur in amino acids.

Myth: Red beets are a good source of iron.

Fact: Just because red beets are red does not mean they will make your blood red. Good sources of iron are meats, dark green leafy vegetables, and fortified foods.

Myth: A glass of milk before bedtime makes you sleepy.

Fact: Tryptophan, an amino acid in milk, can help make you drowsy. In theory you would need more milk than you could probably drink to get enough tryptophan to make you sleep. Regardless if milk at bedtime is a comfort food that helps you relax, go for it.

Myth: You need "stress" vitamins when you're under emotional stress.

Fact: No, emotional stress from a busy harried lifestyle doesn't increase nutrient needs. Any claims that promote vitamins supplements for stress relief are misleading. The physical stress that comes with recovery from illness, surgery or injury may benefit from a physician prescribed supplement.

Great Tomato Ideas

Fresh tomatoes provide an excellent source of vitamins and minerals. In fact, one medium tomato supplies more than 40 percent of the daily allowance of vitamin C and 20 percent of vitamin A, plus potassium — all with only 35 calories.

Take advantage of this seasonal delight at roadsides stands and markets.

Tomatoes must ripen to a deep, rich red color to achieve best flavor. Although vine-ripened tomatoes are superior in taste, sometimes they are picked before fully ripened.

Ripen pink tomatoes at 60-70 degrees in an open area with good air circulation. Never refrigerate tomatoes until they are red and fully ripened and then only if necessary. Refrigerated tomatoes will have a better eating flavor if allowed to warm to room temperature before serving.

Tomatoes come in a variety of shapes, sizes, and colors. The most common is the larger round, red tomato that can be sliced for sandwiches or burgers, cut in wedges, diced for salads or tacos, or cooked into numerous kinds of sauces.

Small round tomatoes (sometimes called Italian or Roma tomatoes) are the choice for preparing secret family recipe sauces as they cook down to a thicker sauce.

Homegrown, red-ripe tomatoes can't be beat for taste. Unfortunately shipped tomatoes available during winter months lack the superior taste of their summertime cousins. Now is the time to preserve summertime's goodness. Here are some recipes from our readers and from the Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program.

YELLOW TOMATO MARMALADE

3 1/2 cups coarsely chopped, peeled, ripe yellow plum tomatoes
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
Grated lemon rind of 1 large or 2 small lemons

6 cups granulated sugar
6-ounce bottle liquid fruit pectin
Put chopped tomatoes into a small enamel or stainless steel pan (do not add water). Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and measure out 3 cups tomatoes and juice. Transfer to large stainless pot. Add lemon juice, rind, and sugar. Bring to a boil over medium heat and boil hard for two minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, stir in pectin for about five minutes. Skim froth off if needed and transfer to 1/2 pint jars. Process in hot water bath for 10 minutes.

Yields 6 half pints.

STEWED TOMATOES

4 quarts tomatoes, peeled, chunked
1/2 cup green peppers, chopped, optional
1/2 cup onions, chopped
2/3 cup celery, chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons granulated sugar
2 teaspoons celery salt

Mix together all ingredients in a large bowl or pot. Pack into jars to within 1/2 -inch of top. Put on two-piece lid and tighten firmly. Process 55 minutes in boiling water bath. Yields 5 - 6 pints.

SPICY BBQ SAUCE

1 cup tomato ketchup
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup apple cider vinegar
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon onion powder
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1/2 - 3/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
Combine all ingredients into stainless steel or enamel saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, reduce to simmer for 15 minutes. Use on pork, beef, or chicken. Yields 2 cups.

TOMATO NUT CAKE

3 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup whole wheat flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
3/4 teaspoon ground allspice
1/2 cup butter
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 1/2 cups tomato juice
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Spray a bundt pan with nonstick spray.

Sift together all-purpose and wheat flour along with baking soda, cinnamon, salt, nutmeg, and allspice into a bowl or on waxed paper and set aside.

In a large mixing bowl, cream together butter and sugars. Add dry ingredients alternately with tomato juice. Beat in vanilla, fold in chopped nuts. Pour into prepared bundt pan and bake for one hour, 10 minutes or until tester comes out clean.

Cool 10 minutes on wire rack, then unmold to a serving plate.

PAN-FRIED GREEN OR RED TOMATOES

Recipe #1:

6 tablespoons olive oil
2 or 3 large greenish, red tomatoes, cored, cut crosswise into 1/2 -inch thick slices. Plain dried bread crumbs or flour for dredging.

Salt and pepper to taste

Place oil in a large skillet, turn heat to medium high. When hot, dredge the tomato slices in bread crumbs or flour and lay in heated oil.

Turn when one side is golden brown, and continue to cook. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste. Serve hot.

Recipe #2:

1/2 cup Canola oil
2 to 3 large red tomatoes with just a tinge of orange
1 large egg beaten
2 cups plain or Italian-flavored bread crumbs

Salt and pepper to taste

Place oil in large skillet over medium heat. Slice tomatoes 1/2 -inch thick. Dredge tomatoes in egg then in bread crumbs. Lay in hot oil in pan. Fry until golden brown on both sides. Salt and pepper to taste. Serve hot.

Eat plain or sprinkled with a little vinegar.

TACO SALAD

Brown:

1 pound ground beef
Add 1/2 package taco seasoning
Set aside to cool.

Mix together and add catalina French dressing enough to moisten salad:

1 head lettuce
1 tomato
1 onion, optional
8-ounces shredded cheese
1 small bag crushed corn chips
Sprinkle ground beef mixture on top of salad. Serve.

TOMATO DEFINITIONS AND COOKING GUIDE

Tomato Paste — Concentration of 100% tomatoes with no added salt. Adds rich, deep, robust tomato flavor — a secret ingredient used to enrich soups, stocks and stews. Adds thickness and body — often used with other canned tomato products or broth, water or wine to enrich and thicken sauces.

Diced Tomatoes — Cut-up chunks of peeled tomatoes with tomato juice and seasonings. Adds look and texture of fresh-cut tomatoes — an excellent substitute for fresh, but available year round. Best combined with paste or sauce for heartier meat, poultry or pasta sauces. When drained, can be used to top pizzas, bruschetta and focaccia.

Crushed Tomatoes — Finely chopped tomatoes in tomato puree. Adds pulpy texture and full-bodied consistency of long-simmered and slowly reduces fresh tomatoes. Combination of chopped tomatoes and puree — an ideal 2-in-1 ingredient for any sauce.

Stewed Tomatoes — Peeled, sliced tomatoes cooked in tomato juice with onion, celery, bell pepper and seasonings. Offers rich, complex, slow-cooked tomato flavor; can be served as is. Good for stews, or other dishes for visual appeal and texture.

Tomato Puree — Tomato paste and water with no added salt or seasonings, adds clean flavor of vine-ripened tomatoes and smooth consistency. Best used when nothing but pure, tomato flavor is desired in a sauce. Complements any ingredient — wonderful over spicy Italian sausage.

Tomato Sauce — Tomato puree which has been seasoned with salt and other spices. Adds mild tomato flavor and smooth consistency — doesn't require dilution and can be used in larger quantities than paste; versatile and blends easily. Use as full or partial replacement for broth, or water in soups, stews, rice dishes, and sauces.

Dads and Sports

About this time of year, it seems that everyone's attention turns to sports. Even before your child was born, you may have dreamed about him or her as a star athlete.

Today, more than ever, school-age children are participating in organized sports — sometimes two and three sports. There is growing concern about the impact that overly competitive sports can have upon the developing child. Studies of stress in young athletes suggest that those who are constantly pushed by parents and coaches run the risk of losing all interest in sports caused by the anxiety and stress associated with competition.

Not only can you see symptoms of emotional stress, like nausea, headaches, lack of energy to mention a few; but two other dangers are associated with sports burnout. A young athlete who is under constant stress to perform is susceptible to injury. A more long-term danger is that children who burn out on sports early in life will be at risk for health problems in adulthood due to their avoidance of exercise.

So what can you as a dad do to prevent these negative effects of sports competition? First of all, try to take a positive approach. Never publicly criticize or embarrass your child or anyone else's. Praise your child for the positive aspects of his or her performance. Children are much more likely to enjoy sports if they feel they meet their parents' expectations. By praising their progress, you are not only helping them improve their physical skills but also their attitude and sportsmanship.

Make your expectations realistic. Too many parents expect an Olympic champion; remember very few children reach this level of performance. Instead, use sports as a way to teach your child about limits and strengths, goal setting, and the importance of sports as a means of relaxation.

Don't use your child to relive your own athletic days or to fulfill unmet athletic goals. Instead, encourage your child to set his or her own sporting goals. Don't assume just because you were a star football player in high school that your child will enjoy the same sport; provide a variety of sports for your child to try. Growing bodies need to develop a range of skills. Providing your child with a sampling of sports activities will help to round-out his or her physical, social, and mental development. There is always time for specialization later in adolescence.

I spoke with a couple of fathers around the soccer field to ask their opinions of how a father can best support a child in his or her athletic endeavors. One pointed out that he felt it was important to attend as many of his son's games as possible and to show an interest in all the sports he plays. This dad also pointed out, "I try to teach my son not to place the blame of a loss on officials or actions of other players. He needs to accept the rulings of officials and take responsibility for his own actions."

Another father felt sports was a great place to teach a child about setting goals. Even though a child may never become a star player, he can learn to set realistic goals and work hard to achieve them; he can take a lot of pride in scoring or finishing a race a few seconds faster. This father said, "After the game we talk about how he (the son) did achieving his game goal. It gives us something positive to talk about, regardless of whether they won or lost the game, and focuses us on his growth as a player."

Finally, it is important to match your child to the sport. A self-motivated child may be more suited for individual sports such as running or swimming. Some other children need a more team-oriented sport like soccer. Take the time to match your child's temperament and interest to the right sport.

Whatever you choose, be a positive model for your children by enjoying sports yourself. Play with, but don't compete with, your child. Biking, hiking, and catch are a few recreation alternatives to competitive sports that can provide an opportunity for the family to play together. Have fun!

Belleville Farm To Be Featured On Television

BELLEVILLE (Mifflin Co.) — A Belleville farm is slated to be included in the upcoming WPSX special, "Farming From the Heart." Hameau Farm in the Big Valley is a working dairy farm, milking 36 registered Ayrshire cows, and more! For six weeks every summer it opens its barn doors for girls, ages 8-12. This unique program, a farm camp, includes feeding baby calves, gathering eggs, even milking goats, as part of its morning activities.

The girls (campers) come from major metropolitan areas, such as New York City, Philadelphia, Washington D.C., and Baltimore, Md., to be farmers for two, four or six weeks. The counseling staff, made up of young women from a variety of agricultural and non-agricultural experiences/backgrounds, is a large percentage international. Countries represented have been Australia, Scotland, Kenya, England, Romania, Spain, Germany, Denmark, Malta and the Czech Republic.

"I have been blessed," said Audrey Gay Rodgers, owner director, "so many people and personalities have fed these calves and milked these goats. It's amazing how global, yet unifying, agriculture really is."

The confidences that are gained by her young charges is equally gratifying to Rodgers. The development of confidence is a motivating impetus as she plans for the future of the farm and its various programs.

Entering its fifth season, Hameau Farm in the Big Valley truly "raises more than just cows!"

QUESTION — A reader wants to know if it's possible to make puffed wheat or puffed rice without much financial investment.

QUESTION — Gerald Nuxoll, Boise, Id., wanted the exact recipe for rice pudding that James Michener describes on pages 4 and 5 of his book, "The Novel." The oven-cooked recipe started with a mixture of rice, milk, eggs, and sugar. After a period of time, cinnamon and raisins were added. Nuxoll has been able to find lots of stovetop recipes but wants an oven recipe. The book setting was in the area covering Lancaster, Berks, Lehigh Counties.

QUESTION — Kris and Susan, readers from New Jersey, want a great recipe for baking Amish-type hard pretzels at home.

QUESTION — A subscriber wants a recipe to make a soft, tasty bread using both whole wheat flour and white flour.

QUESTION — Betty Jakum, Littlestown, wants to know how to prevent soggy pie crust bottoms. Her pies appear to be cooked except the bottom crust is doughy.

QUESTION — A York reader is looking for a recipe for apple walnut bread with sugar topping. She said the recipe appeared in this paper under "apple topics" a few years ago. Did anyone clip the recipe? Send it in please.

QUESTION — Mandy Hodecker would like the recipe for key lime meringue pie. She would also like the filling recipe for white whoopie pies.

QUESTION — G. Sweitzer, Airville, would like recipes for canning cantaloupes and for using gray Hubbard squash.

QUESTION — Wanda Boop, Mifflinburg, would like recipes for making goat's cheese. She also has goat milk for sale, for which you can contact her at R.2, Box 80, Mifflinburg, PA 17844.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, lost her recipe for Impossible Pineapple Pie, anyone have one for her? Shirley writes (with a smile) that she would be lost without this paper because her hubby says that she can't even boil water without a recipe.

QUESTION — Evan Weidman, Newville, would like a recipe to make a large amount of barbecue sauce.

QUESTION — Howard Pensack, Belvidere, N.J., writes that he has an abundance of garlic and would like a recipe for pickled garlic as produced by the Amish in Lancaster County. Ingredients include garlic cloves, vinegar, onions, green pepper, salt, sugar, dill seed, and mustard seed.

QUESTION — Donna Girardin, Campbell Hall, N.Y., would like a recipe for "half-sour pickles," which she said are often sold at flea markets and fairs. Would appreciate canning instructions to go with it.

QUESTION — Elmer McGowan, Millerstown, wants a recipe to make tongue souse.

QUESTION — A Pottsville reader is looking for barley flour and other specialty flours.

QUESTION — Phyllis Stauffer, Carlisle, wants a recipe that Little Caesar's used to have. It was a buttery dip with herbs that they served with breadsticks.

QUESTION — Charles Ensor, Sparks, Md., would like a recipe for sweet Italian sausage.

QUESTION — A reader would like recipes to use barley in stews, as a whole-grain breakfast cereal, etc.

QUESTION — Dianne Decker, Shippensburg, wants a recipe for Shaker Pie, which is a very wet pie made with coconut.

QUESTION — Fern Gerth would like a recipe for lime marmalade.

QUESTION — Lenora Kumler, Duncannon, would like a recipe for flap jacks using eggs, flour, and milk. Flap jacks are fried in an iron skillet like pita bread but eaten like pancakes with butter and molasses.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know where to buy Swiss cheese with a touch of ham and blue cheese by the roll or pound. She can find these items in 4-ounce packages, but they are very expensive. She would also like to know where to buy shrimp chips in a big box.

QUESTION — Arlene from Snyder County would like recipes for Swiss Chard.

QUESTION — Lou Ann Sutter, Lebanon, wants to know where she can buy Cento Stuffed Cherry Peppers, only this item, not other Cento products.

QUESTION — Mike would like to know where to purchase goat and sheep milk in Schuylkill County.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, wants to know how to can tiny ears of corn, which she understands is harvested from field corn when it is 2- to 3-inches in length before the tassle begins to show. She found a recipe that is for immediate use, but her family can't eat them that fast so she wants to can the tiny ears in jars. The recipe is for pickling baby ears, but she would like a recipe to can without pickling so that she can use them in dishes such as chow mein.

QUESTION — G. Sweitzer, Airville, would like to know how to make cream of wheat or cream of farina from soft or hard wheat berries using a grain mill. Also, wants cooking instructions.

QUESTION — Cindy Pudliner, New Holland, would like the recipe for the biscuit sold at the restaurant called Joey's, which was located beside the Comfort Inn in New Holland. She used to order the Sausage and biscuits for breakfast. The biscuit made a light, fluffy cake biscuit.

QUESTION — A.W. Good, East Earl, would like to know where to buy Kosher Jel. A previous source is no longer available because the plant burned down.

QUESTION — Barb Gaugher, Mansfield, wanted a recipe for Kosher barrel pickles like those sold at deli counters.

QUESTION — Brenda Houser, Middletown, would like a recipe to make cookies that taste like the ones served at Shady Maple Smorgasboard. The varieties that she likes are Chocolate Chip Truffle, which has a chocolate batter with chocolate chips in it and a soft chocolate center, and Peanut Butter Truffle, which has a peanut butter batter with chopped nuts and a soft peanut butter filling.

QUESTION — K. B., York Springs, would like a recipe to make rotisserie chicken that tastes like that made by Rutter's Mini Market.

QUESTION — Several years ago, J. Rouse clipped a recipe from this section for maple syrup pork chops. Her family loves the recipe, but she lost it. Anyone else clip the recipe? Send it in so we can reprint it. If we do not receive an answer to this request within two weeks, we will drop it.

QUESTION — Mrs. Dale Burkhart, Narvon, misplaced a recipe for a seasoning mixture to rub into beef roast before roasting. She recalls that some of the ingredients included instant coffee granules, beef bouillon, salt and pepper. If we do not receive an answer to this request within two weeks, we will drop it.

ANSWER — Lynn Rossi, Lititz, wanted a recipe for marinated mushrooms. Thanks to Bob Rumer, Jenkintown, for sending in a recipe.

Marinated Mushrooms

1 pound fresh firm mushrooms (open cap)
 1/2 cup white wine vinegar
 6 black peppercorns
 2 cloves garlic, crushed
 3-ounces olive oil
 3-ounces water
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 bayleaf

Wash mushrooms and discard stems. Pat the caps dry but do not peel them. Combine remaining ingredients, put into a shallow pan and bring to gentle boil. Lower heat and cook 15 minutes; add the mushrooms and continue simmering for 5 minutes. Take from heat and let mushrooms cool in pan. Put into a bowl and leave in the refrigerator for a couple of days in the marinade to absorb full flavor. Drain and serve.

FREEZER TOMATO PASTE

4 quarts tomato puree
 7 or 8 waxed, 5-ounce paper cups

Plastic wrap

Use largest pot you have to prevent stove splatters. Bring puree to a bubbling. Simmer and cook, uncovered, until it is reduced to one-third of original volume. Skim off any scum that may form. This will take about two hours. Stir frequently, making sure the bottom of the pot is scrapped often to prevent scorching (more frequently as paste thickens). Lower heat to prevent scorching.

Transfer to double boiler for at least one more hour. (Don't forget to replenish water in bottom of double boiler). Paste is done when it holds its shape in a rounded teaspoon held upside down for 15 seconds without falling.

Let cool thoroughly. Finished paste will have a graininess that commercial mixtures do not. This turns smooth when water is added during use in other recipes.

Pour paste into paper cups, filling to brim. Cover with two layers plastic wrap and secure with rubber bands around rims.

To store more than six months, use two cups and four layers of plastic to prevent freezer burn.

TOMATO SALSA

7 quarts peeled, cored, chopped tomatoes

4 cups seeded, chopped long green chiles

5 cups chopped onion
 1/2 cup seeded, finely chopped jalapeno peppers

6 cloves garlic, finely chopped
 2 cups bottled lemon juice

2 tablespoons salt
 1 tablespoon black pepper

2 tablespoons ground cumin*
 3 tablespoons oregano leaves*

2 tablespoons fresh cilantro*
 Combine all ingredients except cumin, oregano, and cilantro in a large pot and bring to a boil, stirring frequently, then reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Add spices and simmer for another 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Ladle hot into pint jars, leaving 1/2-inch headspace. Adjust lids and process in a boiling water canner for 15 minutes.

*Optional.

MARINATED TOMATOES

3 large tomatoes, thickly sliced
 1/2 cup olive oil

1/4 cup red wine vinegar
 1 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 clove of garlic, minced

2 tablespoons chopped onion
 1 tablespoon chopped fresh

basil

Place tomato slices in shallow baking dish. Combine oil, vinegar, salt, pepper, garlic, onion, parsley, and basil in jar. Cover and shake until well mixed. Pour over tomatoes. Marinate, covered, in refrigerator for several hours. Serves 4 to 6.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Barbie Smoker, Quarryville, wanted a recipe for Kiwi Jam. Thanks to Verna Moll, Temple, who sent in two recipes that she clipped from last year's newspaper recipes.

Kiwi Jam

- 4 cups Kiwi puree
- 4½ cups sugar
- 1 box powdered fruit pectin

Peel about 3 quarts ripe kiwi and put through food processor to make puree. Follow directions on fruit pectin box for preparing jam.

Kiwi-Pineapple Jam

- 3½ cups prepared pineapple (from fresh)
- 1 cup kiwi puree
- 5½ cups sugar
- 1 box powdered fruit pectin

For puree, stem ripe kiwi and put through food sieve. Follow directions on fruit pectin box.

ANSWER — For C. Fields, Tipton, who wanted the 30 Day friendship cake starter, here is one from L. Fitz, Greencastle.

30 Day Friendship Cake Starter

Let the following mixture set 8 hours or overnight on countertop. Put the following ingredients into a 1 gallon container and cover with cloth and lid:

- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup peach juice
- ½ cup pineapple juice
- ½ cup fruit cocktail juice.

Stir well. Do not refrigerate.

Day 1: Mix together 1½ cups starter juice

2½ cups sugar

1 quart homecanned or 29-ounce can peaches and juice.

Cover and stir once a day for next 9 days.

Day 10: Add 2 cups sugar

20-ounce can crushed or chunky pineapple and juice. Stir once a day for next 9 days.

Day 20: Add 2 cups sugar

17-ounce can fruit cocktail and juice

14-ounce jar maraschino cherries and juice. Stir once a day for next nine days.

Day 30: Drain juice from fruit and put into 6 jars.

1½ cups juice in each jar. Divide fruit into 3 portions (about 2 cups each).

For each cake you will need:

- 1 box yellow cake mix
- 4 eggs
- ¾ cup oil
- Small box instant vanilla pudding
- 1½ cups chopped nuts
- 1 tablespoon orange extract
- 2 cups fruit mix

Bake at 325 degrees for one hour. Mix together and pour into pans. Grease 3 tubepans or bundt pans.

CONSIDER FOOD SAFETY WHEN REUSING PLASTIC AND PAPER

In the spirit of "reuse and recycle," many of us feel good when we microwave leftovers in plastic margarine tubs we have saved and reuse our plastic grocery bags as food storage containers. Although they are both ecologically sound practices, the question is are they safe food practices?

The answer is no, according to the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). Here is what experts with USDA's Meat and Poultry Hotline have to say about these and other food packaging questions that consumers often ask.

Question: Is it safe to microwave foods in margarine tubs or cottage cheese containers?

Answer: No. Cold food storage containers are intended for cold food storage only. They have not been tested or approved for any other use, including cooking. Margarine tubs and cottage cheese containers are not heat stable, and chemicals from the plastic may migrate into the food during heating, including microwave heating.

Question: What about the use of plastic and other packaging materials in the microwave oven?

Answer: Microwave foods in packaging materials only if the package directs, and do so only one time. Materials suitable for

ANSWER — Phyllis Stauffer, Carlisle, wanted a recipe that tastes like the hash brown casserole served at Cracker Barrel restaurants. Thanks to Barb Bedard, North Lawrence, N.Y., for sending the following:

Potato Casserole

- 2 pounds frozen hash brown potatoes
- ½ cup butter, melted
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 2 cups cheddar cheese, grated
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 2 cups sour cream
- 1 teaspoon salt

Mix together all ingredients. Place in 3-quart buttered casserole dish. May be made the day before and refrigerated, covered. Remove from refrigerator about two hours before baking. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes to one hour. Serves 12.

Creamy Hash Brown Casserole

32-ounces frozen Southern-style hash brown potatoes, thawed

- 1 pound American cheese, cubed
- 1 can condensed cream of chicken soup, undiluted
- 2 cups sour cream
- ¾ cup butter, melted, divided
- 3 tablespoons chopped onion
- ¼ teaspoon paprika
- 2 cups cornflakes, slightly crushed

In a large bowl, combine hash browns, cheese, soup, sour cream, ½ cup butter, and onion. Spread into a greased 13x9x2-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with paprika. Combine cornflakes and remaining butter. Sprinkle on top. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 50-60 minutes or until heated through.

microwave cooking include oven bags, wax paper, and plastic wrap. However, make sure the plastic wrap does not touch the food, and do not reuse the wrap.

Question: Is it safe to use plastic grocery or trash bags for food storage?

Answer: This is not a recommended practice, especially for plastic trash bags. Generally, they are not made of food-grade plastic, and chemicals from them may leach into the food, especially raw food such as fresh produce.

Question: Is it safe to use paper grocery bags for cooking?

Answer: Again, USDA's answer is no. Grocery bags are not intended or formulated for cooking foods. Levels of components, such as metal fragments, glue, and chemicals, may be present at higher than acceptable limits and can migrate into the food. These bags may not be sanitary, particularly since they are stored under a variety of conditions.

Question: What about packaging that accidentally gets cooked in a conventional oven, such as the giblet bag inside a turkey?

Answer: The giblet bag and absorbent pad that come with it clearly are not intended to be cooked. However, if this happens and the packaging materials remain unaltered (that is, they do not melt or come apart), the giblets should not be used, but the surrounding turkey is considered safe to eat. However, if the packaging materials have melted or changed shape in any way, experts with USDA's Meat and Poultry Hotline recommend against using the turkey because of food safety concerns.

"In only three weeks of using the Chi Machine, I lost 15 pounds effortlessly - and hospital lab tests showed that my blood cholesterol level dropped from 225 to 160 mg."

How do I use my Chi Machine?

* Place the machine on a rug. Lie on your back and put your ankles in the grooves of the footrest on top of the machine

* Set the timer switch to activate the machine for the number of minutes you desire. First time users should start with 2-5 minutes

* The footrest will begin to move back and forth, carrying your feet briskly from side to side. This movement will carry up through your legs and torso, throughout your entire body, causing you to wiggle back and forth - that's right like a fish swimming in water

* All you do now is relax and breathe deeply, letting the machine rock you gently but firmly for a maximum of 15 minutes

* When the time is up and the machine stops, remain lying down for another two to five minutes, relaxing and breathing deeply, enjoying the remarkable afterglow - chi - as it moves throughout your body

"In two months of using the Chi Machine, my thighs, hips, stomach and buttocks now look as good as they did when I was in my 20's - and I'm almost 52."

Does your body get the oxygen it needs?

(Adapted from a quiz by Dr. Eigi Noguchi)

Check all the boxes which apply to you -

- ☐ I wake up tired, even after eight hours of sleep
- ☐ I sleep restlessly, waking up frequently
- ☐ I suffer from chronic fatigue
- ☐ I have poor physical endurance
- ☐ I tend to be moody and irritable
- ☐ I am susceptible to colds and flu
- ☐ I suffer from allergies
- ☐ I frequently feel tense and on edge
- ☐ I am frequently constipated
- ☐ I have frequent pain in my shoulder and/or back
- ☐ I have weight problems
- ☐ I crave sweets, alcohol or soda

If you checked more than three boxes, your body might not be assimilating sufficient oxygen. Please consult your physician. You may wish to have your blood oxygen levels tested - before and after you begin to use the Chi Machine

Remember Farm Safety Every Day

The farm is a great place to grow-up and visit, but did you realize the farm can also be very dangerous?

Each year more than 100 kids are killed and thousands more are injured on America's farms and ranches.

Farm Safety 4 Just Kids (FS4JK) provides farm safety education to help children and their parents make the farm a safer place.

Farm Safety Week starts Sunday Sept. 19 and ends Sept. 25. But for kids everywhere, farm safety needs to be observed year-round.

Here are some activities to help you be aware of how to make your farm a safer place to live.

For more information on farm safety activities and groups in your area, contact Farm Safety 4 Just Kids' headquarters office at 1 (800) 423-KIDS or visit the web-site at www.fs4jk.org.

How do spiders trap their prey?

Some spiders make sticky webs of silk to catch insects for dinner. The kind of web, though, depends on the spider.

Most spiders that live in the ground construct silk-lined tubes that trap passing insects. Others make funnel webs. These silk tubes have a narrow end tucked into a crevice or branch. The other end expands into a sheet-like surface. When an insect walks across the web, the threads vibrate and the spider, hiding inside the narrow end, darts out to catch the prey.

The most common kind of web, the orb web, is made by several different species of spiders. Orb webs have a center hub and lots of spokes, just like a bike tire. Spiders glue short, sticky threads to the spokes with a drop of mucus, giving the web a spiral pattern. A single web can be glued at more than 1,000 points — that makes the web strong, but flexible.

The web traps flying insects that can't see the fine silk. When the unlucky insect gets snared, the waiting spider quickly covers the insect in silk, turning it as fast as a spit. Then it bites the insect in the back and turns its insides into a liquid spider drink and carries it to a safe place to eat later.

Orb-building spiders treat butterflies and moths a little differently. These insects can easily break free from the web. So the spiders use the moths before wrapping them, to prevent their meal from escaping!

Questions About Y2K?

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — How much water do I need to store for my family?

Plan to have at least one gallon of water per person, per day. Store at least a three-day supply for each family member. You can use clean, sanitized plastic, glass, or metal containers. To sanitize a container, wash with soap and hot water, rise, and then sanitize with a solution of 1 tablespoon chlorine bleach in a gallon of water.

What kinds of foods do families need to have on hand?

Collect food items that need minimum preparation and no refrigeration. Canned foods and pre-packaged foods in one and two-use sizes so you do not have to store opened are good choices. Avoid dried foods that need large amounts of water and long cooking times. Purchase the amount that you need for an emergency. Rotate stock by eating from the supply and replacing what you use immediately.

How can food be heated?

You can use a propane or kerosene stove with fuel, outdoor charcoal or propane grill, candle warmers and non-electric chafing dishes, fondue pots, and sterno. Remember, gas grills and charcoal must be used outside.

An eight-page booklet, Consumers and the Year 2000 (Y2K), contains basic information to help families prepare for unknown events that could disrupt daily routines for short periods. Bike Helmets

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission and McDonald's released a national survey on bike helmet usage: Helmet use is on the rise, but half of all riders are still not wearing helmets. The survey reports 69 percent of children under 16 wear a helmet on a regular basis while riding a bike. To help boost the percentages and to "help kids get the helmet habit," check out the new website at www.bikehelmet.org. Visit the Parent/Teacher camp in Cranium Canyon and get your school-age kids involved with the effort.

Bike helmets are necessary while riding bikes, but the CPSC warns that children should not wear bike helmets when playing, especially on playground equipment. CPSC has reports of two strangulation deaths to children when their bike helmets became stuck in openings on playground equipment, resulting in hanging. Children should always wear helmets when riding bikes. But when a child gets off the bike, the helmet must come off too.

Danny Miller Steer Wins Grand At Somerset

When judge Jameson Walker from Guys Mills, Crawford County, commented that the steer's finish was great and its muscling excellent, the words were music to Miller's ears.

"The steer has power and balance," Walker said.

Danny's parents are Lee and Bonnie Miller and his sister,

Beth is 12.

The Buffalo Creek 4-H'er had exercised the steer daily, taking the fine specimen out at 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. when temperatures were most comfortable.

Morning and evening, neighbors of "Just an Acre Farm," located on the edge of Meyersdale, would watch the progression down the hill and up again.

At weigh-in, "Snots" registered 1,255 pounds.

The teen-ager believes much is owed to his parents for their support last year when Danny spent three months recovering from serious back surgery in October. The steer's feeding and fitting at the time was temporarily handled by them.

Gabriel Svonavec of Rockwood had the reserve champion with a crossbred steer weighing 1,170 pounds. The animal was the club calf sale champion as well. Gabriel, 14, is Dave and Betty Lou Svonavec's son.

Shawn Troutman's Chi Angus Maine cross-bred steer was the county bred champion and Jesse Brant, Rockwood, had the county bred reserve champion, a 1,215-pound Main Angus crossbred.

Troutman, 13, is the son of Larry and Kathy Troutman, Wellersburg. The 17-year-old Brant is the son of David and Carol Brant.

Because of the drought, housing the animals was permitted only on the day of judging. Some farms, however, to ease the burden off the county fairground's water system, reportedly provided water for themselves by filling bulk tanks at home and bringing it with them.

But ironically, considering the extremely dry conditions that have persisted since last spring, the typical rains that folks have come to expect for the annual affair arrived as usual. Several scheduled outdoor activities were thoroughly dampened by soaking downpours.

Following are the top three placings in each class:

FIRST IN GRASSLAND FARMING

Model 648 Silage Special 4'x5'

Strength and durability are built into every New Holland Roll-Belt™ round baler. Larger chain idler springs to maintain proper tension, beefier bearings for follower rolls and drive rolls, heavy-duty cam-follower bearings in wide pickups, stronger pickup lift cranks, heavy-duty wheel hubs, and long-lasting curved pickup tines - they're just some of the features we've included to make Roll-Belt balers stand the test of time.

NEW 1412 Discbine Disc Mower With Flail Conditioner

Fast, Trouble-Free Cutting... and Flail Conditioning For Faster Drydown.

Now, get New Holland's popular Discbine® disc-cutting technology teamed with fast-drying flail conditioning. It's all built into the new Model 1412.

The "1412" has an eight-disc modular Discbine cutterbar for cutting through the toughest, heaviest crop quickly and cleanly. The modular cutterbar features individual disc modules with sealed gear cases and independent alloy drive shafts - it's the secret to fast, easy and inexpensive cutterbar servicing.

Flail conditioning system promotes faster drydown so you're able to save valuable time and bale much sooner.

B37P Round Bale Wrapper

Expand your forage production system with a New Holland round bale wrapper. By adding a round bale wrapper to your current haying system, you can put up high-quality forage at a fraction of the cost of traditional silage systems.

Wrapping adapts well to any haying system. Both twine-tied and net-wrapped bales can be wrapped for silage. Along with being a low-cost silage investment, wrapping eliminates a need for shed storage space for your hay.

At 100 years of age, Mary Forney and her daughter Allegra Sanner talk about the birthday party on the farm.

Centenarian Reminisces

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff
NEFFSVILLE (Lancaster Co.)

— Mary Forney celebrated her 100th birthday on her childhood farm recently.

It was a day to reminisce about growing up on Willow Spring Farm in Clay Township.

One hundred years is a lot of memories to recall, but Mary remembers them as if they happened yesterday.

"My father was an award-winning orchard man," Mary said.

In fact, Christian B. Snyder received the Master Farmer Award in 1928 for "his seed selection work that has done more than anyone else to fix the type and disease-resistant qualities of Lancaster County Sure-Crop corn, his production of disease-free berry plants, and control of the oriental peach moth. He was also the first in the area to test both dairy and beef cattle for tuberculosis."

Snyder was also treasurer of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Association and an officer for the extension association.

Some of Mary's fondest memories are of childhood days filled with swinging on a long rope from a branch of the willow tree, finding pretty stones in the brook running through the front yard, rolling down the hills in the yard, seeing watermelons and jugs of milk chilling in the ice cold trough in the springhouse, and riding to Sunday school in the horse and buggy.

There was no bathroom in the house, but Mary recalled that the outhouse had two holes, one regular size and one smaller, with a step for the children. A Sears Roebuck catalogue provided both entertainment and cleansing.

"We spent a lot of time there when it was dishwashing time in the kitchen," Mary said.

After graduation from Elizabethtown College, Mary taught school until she was 30 years old and married a widower in 1931.

Her husband-to-be drove a car named "Moon," said Mary. "So I told people I was marrying the man on the moon."

Roy Forney had somewhat of an unusual life. Married at 19, his first wife was the only child of a wealthy family. Her father gave a farm to them as a gift, but when she died a year later from childbirth, her father took the farm back. Forney had a newborn baby to raise. He remarried only to lose his second wife when she died from complications when giving birth to their second child.

Forney returned to Elizabethtown College to earn a degree to teach math. It was at college that Forney and Mary became acquainted.

Forney served as a lay pastor (without pay) and Mary often served as chorister in the meetings where he preached.

When Mary married Forney, he had three children from two different mothers.

"But I was never a stepmother," Mary said. "My husband wouldn't allow that. They were our children."

The children were ages 10, 5, and 1½. Later, Mary and her husband had two additional children. The oldest is deceased but the other four include Arlene Stauffer, Conestoga; Allegra Sanner, Downingtown; LeRoy Forney, Philadelphia; and Miriam Hassan, South Bend, Ind.

"My mother was always formal and proper and taught us to be well behaved," said Allegra, the third child. "She was always kind and gentle. I never saw her lose her temper."

After their marriage, Forney became a full-time pastor for the Church of the Brethren in Somerset County. Mary assisted him by serving as choir director, teaching adult Sunday school classes, and typing church bulletins and other secretarial duties. She used her artistic talents to paint pictures that illustrated some of her husband's sermons.

The walls of her apartment at the Brethren Village, Lititz, serve as the background for many of her oil paintings.

Her husband died in 1973 from complications suffered from falling down the steps.

At that time, the couple was semi-retired with Forney serving as pastor of visitation for the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren.

About 23 years ago, Mary moved to Brethren Village. For the first 17 years she shared a cottage with a friend.

"We bought a place in Florida where we visited every winter. We went on a cruise and did other interesting things," Mary said.

Mary also served as president of the Society of Farm Women in both Lancaster and Somerset counties and as treasurer of the state society.

On barn-building day, a meal was served to all the men before the women sat down to eat. Mary is fourth from the right.

Although she no longer paints, Mary used her artistic abilities to make 125 bookmarks for each of the guests who attended her party on Aug. 7. She used the dots from a hole punch and a few defined strokes of a pen to bring a cheery existence to bugs, birds, flowers, caterpillars, and butterflies.

When family members wanted to play her 100th birthday party, Mary at first protested. But then she said, "I don't want a fuss, but I would like a family reunion."

Thus the surviving children planned the Snyder-Forney Reunion with relatives coming from as far away as California and China.

At the reunion, Mary requested that "The Lord's Prayer" be sung before the noon meal.

"We have loads of musicians in our family," Allegra said, "and the singing was beautiful."

Pictures and posters depicting 100 years of Allegra's life were on display. A distant relative who lives on the family farm opened it up for tours. The house has been beautifully restored and is furnished with many cherished family heirlooms.

"A reunion is more than people related to each other. It's people joined by shared memories and hopes, drawn together by mutual caring and concerns. A family is special."

Mary's sister Ida Snyder is alive at 102 years of age, but was unable to attend because she lives in California.

Although 100 years old, Mary still likes to have fun, but said that all her old friends have died. Four years ago, Mary carried the Olympic torch when it came to the Lititz area.

A former tennis player, Mary has turned in her racquet to play Scrabble and Rummy Cube.

"She never complains," her daughter said. "She gets up at 6:30 every morning."

Mary interspersed, "That's because I want to hear the in-house T.V. (a program that includes devotions and news)."

"She always dresses as soon as she gets up," Allegra said.

"Don't you?" Mary asked. "I always did."

At 9 a.m., Mary participates in an exercise class.

"I keep busy. I stop by the store and bank," Mary said.

"I just stopped driving a car last year."

She also had kept a garden on the retirement home's property.

"I kept my gardening tools in my car trunk. When I gave up driving, I had no place to keep my (garden) tools, so I gave up gardening too," Mary said. "But I miss those wonderful strawberries and rhubarb that I grew in my garden."

Of her 100 years of living, Mary said, "I can't think of any years that were better than others. I enjoyed them all."

Skunks In Your Yard?

YORK (York Co.) — This time of the year, skunks frequent yards searching for white grubs (the larvae of Japanese beetles and June bugs). Many people want to know how to keep skunks away. Penn State master gardeners respond that the digging skunks do in the top inch of soil causes little damage. They will work at night and move on to winter hibernation when grubs are gone, so consider letting them help you with pest control.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

More Than One Way To Skim Pond Scum

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Homeowners and farmers with ponds, streams or waterways on their property don't necessarily have to apply pesticides if aquatic plants become a nuisance, according to an expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Most bodies of water support some kind of plant life," explains Winand Hock, professor of plant pathology and director of the Pesticide Education Program. "Aquatic plants become weeds when they impair or prevent use of the pond or waterway."

Mark Hartle, biologist for the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission, says aquatic plants vary according to the environment they are placed in, and control measures are dictated by what type of plant life is choking off the pond. Surrounding land use also can influence aquatic plant growth, either by acting as an effective filter for excess water and nutrients, which limits growth, or by failing to filter nutrients, which can cause excessive aquatic plant growth.

Scientists divide aquatic plants into four groups:

- Algae. The most widely distributed of all aquatic plants, algae can be subdivided into three types.

- Plankton: Also called phytoplankton, these microscopic single-cell plants cause water to appear pea-soup green or reddish brown.

- Filamentous: These plants, often mistakenly described as moss or slime, use filaments of plant material to form dense mats of growth on rocks or other underwater objects.

- Attached branched algae: Known as Chara and Nitella, these two varieties resemble flowering plants, but they have no root system. They have a skunky odor when crushed.

- Submerged Aquatic Vegetation. Most plants in this category grow in deeper and are rooted on the bottom. Most of their leaves remain underwater until flowering. Common types include coontail, pondweeds, common elodea and milfoil.

- Emergent Plants. These varieties grow along the edges of the water body, with just a short portion of their stems under water. Most of these plants do not cause problems for water users. Problem emergent plants include cattails, purple loosestrife and common reeds.

- Floaters. Most of the structure of these plants float on the water surface. Most are rooted plants such as water lilies and spatterdock. Other varieties, such as duckweed, absorb nutrients by dangling roots in the water.

Experts say aquatic weed control can be approached using three methods, singly or in combination.

Physical or Mechanical Control

"This technique means cutting, mowing, raking, digging or pulling vegetation out of the water," Hartle says. "Most aquatic plants can reproduce by fragmentation, so cleanup will have to be repeated several times to eliminate new growth."

Hartle explains that physical removal is effective only for small quantities of shoreline plants but reduces the rate of regrowth as well as the availability of nutrients.

Mechanical plant harvesting is used only on large lakes.

Landowners also can alter a pond's environment to control vegetation. Lowering the water level, called a "drawdown," exposes sediments and plants, which can be killed if temperatures dip below freezing. Hartle says drawing down any pond larger than an acre requires a permit.

In small ponds, aeration can partially control the growth of blue-green algae, but is ineffective on other plants.

Biological Control

Introducing vegetation-eating fish into a pond system can be very effective, particularly for submerged plants.

Filamentous algae can be reduced somewhat as well.

Hartle says the triploid grass carp, a fish genetically altered so it cannot reproduce, is the only effective biological vegetation control. He adds that pond owners must get permits from the Fish and Boat Commission before stocking the triploid grass carp. The pond outlet also must be screened to prevent escape. Koi, common carp and Israeli carp are not exclusive herbivores, and fish experts do not recommend their use.

"The drawback to the grass carp is the defecation of the consumed plant material, which recycles nutrients back into the water," Hartle says.

Chemical Control

Herbicides are effective controls, but Hock warns that mis-handled chemicals will cause many more problems than they solve. Hartle also says algae is the most common problem Pennsylvania pond owners encounter, and control of nutrients entering the pond must accompany chemical treatments to effectively control algae.

"Choose the correct chemical for the problem plant," Hock says. "Make precise water volume and chemical measurements, and read the product label directions carefully. Over-application can damage other plants and wildlife."

Chemical applications also can kill fish indirectly because too much oxygen is consumed by the rapid decay of dead plants. Hock suggests treating just one-third or half the pond at a time. "Start applications in shallow water and work out to deeper water," Hock says. "This will let fish escape the chemical."

All aquatic pesticides require a permit, which must be approved by the fish and Boat Commission and the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection before the pesticide is used. QUESTION — Ruth Zimmerman, 225 Conestoga Rd., New Holland, PA 17557-9777, would like to buy a good used or new 4 or 5 thread serger sewing machine.

QUESTION — To trace her roots, Naomi Gocheaur, Willow Street, is looking for a book "Eberly Family History 1700-1974." Call her at (717) 464-4369.

QUESTION — Lizzie Ann, Honey Brook, wants to know if it's possible to find little girl bobby pins. Previously, she could find them in three sizes. The size she wants is a little longer than 1½ -inches. She does have a size that is 1¼ -inch in length but that is too small for her use.

QUESTION — Walter Zimmerman, 245 Cabin Road, Ephrata, is interested in a 1006 Bernina sewing machine or any sewing machine that includes an overlock.

QUESTION — A reader wants the words to the poem "A City," which includes the lines: A city that is set on a hill. A city where there is no night. . .

QUESTION — Bruce Wise, Middletown, wanted information and the value of a wooden airplane propeller: Sensenich, 84-inches long, one end damaged. Serial #64583 H.P. 185, 3-inch hole RPM 2550.

QUESTION — A reader wants exact directions to make sachet mixes from dried flowers, pine cones, etc.

QUESTION — Sharyn Ziegler-Maier, York, writes that she purchased two blacksmith prints and one mill print by artist Paul Detlefsen. She would like any type of information a reader has about this artist.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know where to find replacement paddles for a 2-quart Sears and Roebuck ice cream freezer, Model No: 238 1968.

QUESTION — Kenneth Hixon, Warfordsburg, wants a sure method to keep birds from picking cherries.

QUESTION — Paul Dowie writes that his father's LeCoultre watch has lost the back and watch repair people in his area can't fix it. Is there a watchmaker who has parts for a watch Model 481 automatic? It needs cleaning and lubrication also. Call him at (610) 827-7561.

QUESTION — A reader from Quarryville would like books written by Theodore Epp. If you have extra copies, answer through this column.

QUESTION — Mary Leiber of Dalton asks a question often answered in this column: How can she get rid of scum or algae on a pond. At one time it was a cow pond. Now it's been dug out more and seeded around the edges. The Leibers have tried copper-sulfate, aqua shade, and 5-10-10 fertilizer without results. According to the oft-time discussions in this column, barley straw seems to be one of the easiest and most effective solutions. However, as I recall, it must be used in early spring. What is most effective at this time of the year?

QUESTION — E.J. Beaver, Ringtown, bought a drill press at a auction. The item looks like a two-person press. It is about 42½ -inches long with a wheel on top that measures 15½ -inches in diameter. It has a smaller wheel below it. On the side it has stamped Boynton & Plummer makers Worcester, Mass. Patented Feb. 4, 1873.

It is very heavy weighing about 100 pounds. Does anyone know anything about it or the company? Any source such as a person, book, or website that could offer information about the press?

QUESTION — Dixie Fix, 5847 Pleasant Ridge Rd., Harrisonville, PA 17228, recently acquired a Singer treadle sewing machine 128-3. It has a long bobbin and she would like to know if any readers would sell her long bobbins.

QUESTION — A reader writes that after seeing a sandstone water trough sold at a farm sale, she has some questions: Is sandstone still mined? Do people still buy and sell sandstones and are they used for anything in particular?

QUESTION — John Zehner farms in Somerset County. He previously purchased a Perma-Flex leg band, but can no longer find them in locally, or advertised in farm magazines and catalogs. Perma-Flex is similar to other bands but has a black band over the end to hold in place.

QUESTION — J. Melvin Koser, Narvon, would like to know where to find The Lennon Sisters Paper Dolls, made in the 1960s.

QUESTION — Geneveile Reese, Newburg, wants to know how to rid infested antique furniture of post-hole beetles or worms.

ANSWER Violet Cassner, Newburg, wanted information on how tomatoes are grown in water. Thanks to Robert Shaub, Shrewsbury, for sending information: Several techniques can be used but the most practical is subirrigation, in which plants are grown in trays filled with gravel, cinders, or other coarse materials and periodically flooded with nutrient solution. The solution is allowed to drain off after each flooding and reused as long as sufficient minerals remain in it. Shaub writes that detailed information can be found on the Internet at <http://www.funkandwagnalls.com/encyclopedia/low/articles/h/h01100749f.html>. Your county Penn State Extension office should also have free information.

ANSWER — A reader inherited a "cigar silk throw pillow" and wanted information about cigar silks. Thanks to Richard Knouse, Liverpool, who writes that years ago all cigars were handrolled and bundled to be shipped to stores and tobacco shops. The bundles were held together by silk ribbons with the brand name on them. The shop usually sold cigars by the piece so the consumer did not receive the ribbons. Either someone in the reader's family could afford to buy a bundle of cigars at a time or they were involved with selling tobacco products. Either way, there is a demand by collectors for the ribbons. The reader may want to contact a local antique dealer or inquire about collectors clubs to find out how much the cigar silk throw is worth.

ANSWER — A Hamburg reader asked why people are buying generators to use for home electric. This is a controversial subject, but Janice Groff, Honey Grove, wrote that the Y2K computer shutdown on Jan. 1, 2000 will result in no electric, no heat, and no water so people are buying generators to use during this time. Another reader wrote that the powers that be are going to pull the plug on the nation's power grid on that date. He believes the Y2K computer crisis is a totally planned and orchestrated event to create chaos so that the president can officially declare a national state of emergency and institute martial law in order to fulfill a New World Order. Please check with your local Penn State Extension office and with the Red Cross who have more extensive information on this controversial subject. In fact, a workshop on Y2K consumer readiness will be held at the Berks Co. Ag Center, Leesport, on Oct. 5, 1 p.m.-3 p.m. and repeated at 7 p.m.-9 p.m. Advance registration is required. To register, send a check for $1 made payable to Berks County Cooperative Extension Special Account and mail to Consumer Readiness for Y2K, Berks Co. Ag Center, P.O. Box 520, Leesport, PA 19533.

ANSWER — Fran Westfall, New Oxford, writes that to keep cats and dogs away from flower beds, she sprinkled red pepper in a circle around the area, not on the flowers, intended to keep out the pets. Cats and dogs would go to the edge of the circle but would not walk over it.

West Central District Dairy Show Announces Show Winners

CENTRE HALL (Centre Co.)
— The West Central District 4-H and FFA Dairy Show was conducted the end of July at the Centre Hall Grange Fairgrounds.

In the Ayrshire Show, Lisa Macknair of Mifflin County won grand reserve, and junior champion honors. Reserve junior champion went to Jason Klingler of Centre County.

Grand champion of the Milking Shorthorn show went to Melissa Wolfe of Lycoming County. She also won reserve grand champion and junior champion.

Jada Faulkner of Juniata County won Brown Swiss grand champion with her senior 2-year-old. Lauren Daubert of Clinton County won reserve grand champion and the best animal bred and owned award with her cow six years and older. Junior champion went to Jared Daubert of Clinton County. Reserve junior champion went to Elizabeth Cloninger of Centre County.

In the Holstein Show, Rachel Sellers of Mifflin County finished her 4-H career by winning grand champion. David Kocher of Centre County won reserve grand champion. Emily Cloninger of Centre County won both junior and reserve junior champion of the Holstein Show.

Following is a list of show placings:

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Last week we drove to Snyder County to empty our camper. My husband has decided to sell it. This meant emptying all of the contents.

Where to put the extra dishes, silverware, and linens? So we sorted and stored. It is so easy to accumulate things. They say, "Out of sight, out of mind." We can even forget what is on the attic if we do not look at it for a year or two.

Recently, one of my friends, who is selling her house and moving, said that everyone should move every five years. Her reasoning was that we'd get rid of many, many things. That may be all right if you do not ever want any antiques.

I'm glad that my parents and grandparents saved things. Not only furniture but also books and papers. Maybe it is only when you are older that you appreciate records of the past. At least, that is when you are supposed to have time to sit down and read them.

Somehow I keep myself too busy to do even that. There are meetings to attend and weeds to pull. The last three weekends we have had guests in our home. Children and grandchildren have visited us for several days. This means cooking for more than two people.

The grandchildren do like their grandmother to sit down and read to them. As I still have my children's story books, there is a wide variety of stories to choose from. But, what do they want to hear—the same stories read over and over again.

Spring 4-H Dairy Trip

On Friday, May 14, six members of the D.E.S. Dairy Club joined members of various other Susquehanna County dairy clubs as well as several leaders and parents for an overnight trip to Morrisville College and a tour of several prominent upstate New York dairy farms.

Upon arrival at Morrisville College, a two-year school affiliated with the State University of New York, they were greeted by members of the Morrisville Dairy Club.

After an informal gathering to introduce each other, the group was given a tour of the various barns, calving facilities, and the campus. After that, each person was paired off with a partner and given a dorm room which they would share for the night.

With much more planned for the evening, trip participants headed for the computer lab where they were each given the use of a computer and then figured out a TMR (total mixed ration) for their particular breed and age animal. When finished, they were given computer printouts of what their animals' TMR should be.

Following the computer lab the Morrisville dairy club treated their guests to a pizza party, complete with videos of their members competing in a dairy show, and an evening of ice skating at the campus ice rink.

On Saturday, following a breakfast buffet in the campus dining hall, the group joined J.B., the dairy science professor, in the barn lab for a workshop on nutrition. J.B. explained what Morrisville College students have found as the "proper feeding order." J.B. explained this by first explaining how a cow's rumen works. He suggests feeding hay, then silage, and then last grain. The reason being a cow's rumen has all these little "bugs" in the bottom. By feeding grain first, these bugs would die and proper digestion would not take place. With feeding hay and silage first, it forms a sort of net to hold the grain up in the rumen and digest things more evenly. The participants were then given several screen boxes and placed a handful of feed in the top box and continued to sift the particles through to separate the feed according to size. This procedure showed them exactly what was in the TMR.

On a lighter note and just for fun, the Morrisville Dairy Club challenged the members of the Susquehanna County dairy clubs to go through their barn and see just how many things they could find "wrong." The group split up into teams of two and found many safety hazards. Things from pitch forks lying on the floor to a tractor with its PTO left running unattended were found. Professor J.B. and his students were impressed with the "observational skills" as they called them, which the teams held. Each person was awarded a pin.

After leaving Morrisville College, the Susquehanna County group headed to the Ayrshire farm of Doug Evans and his family. The Evans farm is a designated Century farm much like farms around this area. Mr. Evans showed everyone the impressive herd of 50, including some 13 "excellent" animals. One of his favorites is a 13-year-old that has calved 11 times with 11 heifer calves. Before departing, the Evans family treated everybody with refreshments including brownies, fresh fruit and, what else . . . milk.

The next stop on the tour was the Hanford Jersey farm. Upon arriving they were greeted by the farm manager and given a short history of the family and their farm. The Hanfords originally started out with only four head of cattle. They decided that it would be in their best interest to enlarge their farm to sort of back up their dairy pharmaceutical company.

The Hanford's pharmaceutical company produces much of this country's mastitis drugs. It could only help business if they had the cattle to back up their products. There are approximately 200 animals in the farm's tiestall milking barn. Outside, a large freestall barn holds the heifers and older calves, separating them into age groups. With time limited and yet another farm to tour, the calf facility across the road on the original homestead was unseen.

The final stop on the Susquehanna County dairy tour was that of the McMahon Holstein farm. The modern, up-to-date facility is home to more than 500 cows. Milking takes place in a state-of-the-art double-14 milking parlor. Everything is computerized. Milking is done three times a day, by one person. As she milks one bunch of cows, her assistant gets another group ready to be led into the parlor. The barn is entirely freestall. Feeding is a TMR of approximately 16 tons twice a day.

Of all the places visited by the participants, everyone they visited with was more than happy to answer questions and give any asked for advice. It was not only educational, but fun as well. It was an opportunity for the kids involved to get a look at what the college "scene" has to offer as well as see what rural life is like outside our area. It showed three very different dairy farms, each with its own way of doing things, yet not one being out done by the others. Each farm was equally successful. Each had its own needs according to size. They were able to see something from the small dairy farm of the Evans family all the way up to the extremely large dairy farm of the McMahon family.

The Northampton County 4-H Team at State Achievement Days

Northampton County took first place in two events at Penn State Achievement Days. Kevin Martin of Danielsville took first place in the orienteering contest and Brian Parmenter had the highest score in the rabbit bowl.

During the State Achievement Days, 4-H teens have the opportunity to go to Penn State University for three days, stay in the dorms, meet other 4-H teens from around the state, and show their skill in their 4-H area of specialty. Thirty teens and chaperones from Northampton County 4-H joined more than 1000 teens from 4-H clubs around the state to participate in various events.

Other County 4-H members participated in:

- Air rifle - Brant Kloiber, Anthony Mariani, William Ford and James Ford.

- Fashion revue - Sarah Geiger and Shelly Kneebone

- Physical fitness - Dana Schrantz
- Hippology - Tally VanSchoick, Lindsay Paulus, Amber Buttner and Julie Bader
- Horse Bowl - Ashley Garrett, Ellie Murdoch, Dawn Petraitis, and Diane Petraitis
- Tractor driving - Joel Geiger

- Rabbit Cavy - Rachel Slotcavage, Becky Lobus, Brian Parmenter, Julie Kenworthy

- Archery - Dustin Murray
- Textile science - Jessica Knitter, Allison Peck and Julie Blackadar

- Chaperones - Kathy Schad, Kyle Datesman and Phyllis Laufer

This excellent opportunity gives teens the chance to experience first-hand what life in a college dorm is like and to understand the challenges and competition and cooperation.

Take Control Of Money

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Penn State Cooperative is offering a free workshop "Taking Control of Your Money" on Thursday, October 7 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Penn State Cooperative Extension office, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster.

When you think no one cares if you're alive, try missing a couple of car payments. If you are having trouble making ends meet, if your current money management method isn't working or if it just needs a little improvement, come to Taking Control of Your Money. Learn the basics of creating a spending plan and credit use. The information will help you and your family deal with the dilemmas and decisions regarding earning, spending, and saving money.

Financial success requires teamwork, so a family needs to talk together about money. Discussions concerning how to spend money, what the family's future needs are, when to use credit, and other issues are as necessary as organizing records themselves. In fact, if you family talks rather than argues about money, you will probably have fewer money problems.

To register, or for more information, call Penn State Cooperative Extension at (717) 394-6851.

Encourage Creativity

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — On Oct. 16, from 9 a.m. to noon, join family home provider Junko Wright in a hands-on exploration of many different activities to stimulate children's imagination and creativity. Ways to help children develop curiosity and encourage cognitive skills will be demonstrated through activities including recycled art and craft projects, origami, flannel storyboard, dramatic play, musical movement, and cooperative games. Participants are asked to bring one toilet paper tube. Cost $10.

The workshop will be held at the Farm and Home Center, 1383 Arcadia Rd., Lancaster.

To register, send your name, address, and phone number to Workshops, Penn State Cooperative Extension, 1383 Arcadia Rd., Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601-3184.

Consumer Readiness For Y2K

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — By now, most consumers have heard of the "millennium bug," which potentially may or may not cause disruption of available services to consumers.

To avoid panic and Y2K scams, attend the educational program that will help consumers prepare for the year 2000. Four program speakers include the following:

- UGI Utilities Preparations for January 2000 and Beyond by Steven J. Kleinman, manager, applications development, UGI. Kleinman will discuss UGI's preparations and testing as well as the efforts of the natural gas industry in preparing for the year 2000.

- Your Financial Peace of Mind on 01/1/00 by Dr. David A. Manzo, county extension director and extension agent in Schuylkill County. Wake up on New Year's Day knowing that you have done everything you could do to make sure your financial situation is secure. He will offer some suggestions to make sure this happens.

- Year 2000 Representation by Robert A. Gallo, Y2K Community Outreach, GPU Energy (Met-Ed). Gallo will discuss the electric industry and GPU Energy readiness.

- Y2K Tips for Consumers by Fay B. Strickler, extension home economist, will share tips, hints, and ways to keep your family comfortable, relaxed, and prepared for any emergency, such as how to store water for drinking or cooking, etc.

Advance registration is required for the Consumer Readiness for Y2K to be held on Tuesday, October 5, at the Agricultural Center from 1-3 p.m. and repeated again 7-9 p.m.

To register, send a check for $1 made payable to: Berks County Cooperative Extension Special Account and mail to Consumer Readiness for Y2K, Berks Co. Ag Center, PO Box 520, Leesport, PA 19533.

4 CHEERS FOR 4H

4-H Club Award

The Bucks County Annual Award for Community Service News Reporting was awarded to the 4-H Pals Club of Newtown. The 4-H'ers, who range in age from 8-10 years, jointly wrote the following award-winning article.

Our favorite community service project is the group home of developmentally disabled ladies we adopted. The group home in Yardley has four ladies - Marie, she's the oldest (about 50) and loves to have us come visit her. Marie likes to do arts and crafts projects and she has a job during the day. Then there is Katie, she's the youngest, about 20, and she's really cool. "Katie is like us, it's hard to tell she's disabled," said Melissa Moore. Katie likes sports and plays softball and goes bowling. "She's a lot of fun to be around," added Melanie Ashbaugh. There is Diana - she can't talk and doesn't understand too much. "She likes to hold on to things like her yellow ducky and just skip around the house," stated Jasmine Evans. "Joanne loves to eat and really likes the treats we make for her," added Dominique Evans. She can talk a little bit but can understand more.

The 4-H Pals of Newtown provide lots of services to our friends in the group home. "We always bake something for them," said Rocio Slobodzian. We visit them about four times per year, at their home, which is located on Beechwood Lane in Yardley. Last year, we made them Easter baskets filled with lots of goodies and baked them cookies - that was our first visit. We met all of them, they met us, Marie showed us their house, and they all have their own bedrooms, and then we shared the cookies and juice. "It was a nice experience to meet them and see how they live their lives," said Dominique Evans.

Then we came back in the spring to plant flowers in their garden. The 4-H Pals picked out flowers to plant in their garden

"I picked out geraniums," said Melissa Moore, who then stated that the other flowers were marigolds and impatiens. We cleaned out the garden and then planted the flowers. "It really looked pretty," said Melanie Ashbaugh, "colorful too," added Rocio Slobodzian. When we were done the 4-H Pals-Marie, Katie, Joanne, Diane, and the staff-had ice pops that our leader brought. Jasmine Evans indicated that "they need people to come and visit them and be their friends."

During the fall we wanted to take them on a hayride and go apple-picking at Snipes. But our friends were afraid to go on a hayride so we were just going to meet them for apple-picking. Since we got rained-out, our leader bought apples and the 4-H Pals made our friends baked apples, which we brought over to their house. "The baked apples were really yummy," stated Rocio Slobodzian. "Well I like visiting them 'cause I like knowing them," said Melissa Moore.

For Christmas, we each used our allowance money to buy one present at the dollar store for our friends in the group home. We also baked them two different kinds of Christmas cookies. We walked into their house singing Christmas carols. "I noticed they really want to be like us - they look like us, they are nice, but they can't express their feelings like we can," said Jasmine Evans.

When asked what the 4-H Pals provide, they replied, "friendship," "companionship," "our company," "cookies," "flowers," "Christmas presents," and "acceptance." The 4-H Pals in return gain an understanding and further acceptance of others.

Our leader, Mrs. Ashbaugh, told us when we joined 4-H last year, that we would also be involved in community service projects because she believes that giving back to the community is important. We discussed several different types of projects. Mrs. Ashbaugh suggested that we adopt a group home of developmentally disabled people. She explained what a group home was, what developmental disabilities are, and what the people are like. We agreed. Mrs. Ashbaugh contacted both the Woods School and the Bucks County Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) regarding a long-term community service project. The ARC indicated that there was a group home being developed by Northwestern Human Services of Bucks County that would be in Yardley, and that would be serving four ladies, three of which were just coming out of an institution. The ARC knew that neighbors didn't want the group home and believed that our community service project would not only provide friendship and acceptance for the ladies living there, but set an example for the community regarding acceptance. For the 4-H Pals, it provided an opportunity to utilize their developing cooking skills, as well as an experience to form relationships with others in need of friendship. The ARC contacted Northwestern Human Services regarding this project. Everyone agreed that everybody could benefit from such a project. We met for the first time on Good Friday 1998 as part of a community service project. Now, it seems just like we are going to visit our friends!

The 4-H Pals of Newtown Club participates in both cooking and community service projects. The 4-H Pals of Newtown Club includes Melissa Moore, president; Dominique Evans, vice president; Jasmine Evans, secretary; Rocio Slobodzian, treasurer; Melanie Ashbaugh, news reporter; Pamela Rotter, song leader; and Lisa Ashbaugh, leader, all of Newtown.

Reality Check

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — You're in the middle of a big project, but you still want to choose a healthful meal, so you run out for a slice of Stuffed Vegetable Pizza from Sbarro. After all, it has the word "vegetable" in it, so you figure you're doing OK, right?

Or you need a shopping break at the mall and decide to get a Steak Fajita Salad at Chili's. True, steak can be fatty, but there are only a few thick slices, and it is a salad after all.

Well, the pizza and salad were sent to a laboratory for nutrition analysis, and guess what?

Just a single stuffed pizza slice contains 674 calories, with 28 grams of fat and 11 grams of saturated fat — half the saturated fat that someone on a 2,200-calorie diet should be averaging daily. And alas, the salad isn't rabbit food. A serving, which comes with dressing and guacamole, contains 813 calories and 48 grams of fat, 11 of them saturated.

TOY TRAIN AUCTION IN TWO SESSIONS

10 AM SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1999

Exhibition: 7-9 PM Friday and 8-10 AM Saturday

The Exhibition Will Close At 10 AM When The Sale Commences.

RIDGE FIRE COMPANY

Along Rt. 23, Between Phoenixville, PA & Rt. 100

Session #1 at 10:00 am will be the holdings of a private collector from the Harrisburg Area. He had a large, busy layout with many action displays. The centerpiece of the exhibit was a complete circus in miniature, having beautiful hand-made tents, crowds of spectators and numerous animal and clown acts. Except for the trains and Corgi Chipperfields vehicles, this display will be sold in its entirety, and is perfect for O Gauge. Session #1 will conclude by 1:00 pm, at which time there will be a brief lunch break and an opportunity for late comers to examine the material for Session #2.

Lots for Session #2 run from 301 to 524 and have been consigned by the Estate of Willard J. Deats of Leighton. Mr. Deats worked for the railroad, so his love of trains came naturally. His collection contains approximately 100 lots of post war Lionel and about the same amount of modern era trains. The loco roster from both parts is excellent, and condition is good.

A 10% BUYER'S PREMIUM WILL BE APPLIED.

More Than 210 Dairy Animals At Northeast District 4-H Show

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent
TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming Co.) — Youth from across Northeastern Pennsylvania traveled to the Wyoming County fairgrounds to participate in the 1999 District 4-H Dairy Show in late August.

Judges for the two-ring event were Don Seipt of Easton, Pa. and Doug Evans of Georgetown, N.Y. More than 210 Holsteins, Jerseys, Ayrshires, Brown Swiss, Guernseys, and Milking Shorthorn were shown as the top animals were pulled into the champion positions.

In the Holstein show, Chelsea Coolidge took grand champion honors with Le-Ma-Re Hort Royal Liberty. The reserve grand champion was Nicholas Pease's Swamp Bottom Posey. Named junior champion Holstein was Jessica Sartell's Dymond S Formation Annabell. Michelle Adam's C-Bird JetSet Geo was named reserve junior champion.

The Ayrshire grand champion was Roselyn Adams' Rose-More Angels April. The reserve grand champion was Jesse Milliron's T-J Trident Passion. Filling the junior champion slot was Janine Anderson's Three Springs Jupiters Kaitlyn. The reserve junior champion Ayrshire was Raymond Woods' Bosley C Reddy Rhea.

White's DG Elizabeth, owned by Lisa DeWolf, was the only Milking Shorthorn in the show. She was awarded the junior champion and grand champion awards.

Chester County 4-H Dairy Roundup A Quality Show

HONEY BROOK (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Roundup was conducted here at the Romano 4-H Center. Forty-two members, including seven first-year 4-H'ers, participated with 129 animals.

The showing and fitting contest, always a closely contested event, was judged by Jane Pepple and Joy Crothers, both of Oxford. First-year champion Showmanship honors went to Hannah Wentworth of Quarryville. Abigail Hedrick of Pottstown was the reserve champion first-year showman. For the first-year fitting honors, the judges chose Carissa Coccie of Boyertown for champion and Randy Miller of Chester

In the junior division, 8-10 years of age, Paul Harrop of Chester Springs was named junior champion showman and Brad Guest of Pottstown took the reserve ribbon. In the fitting competition, the judges chose Brad Guest and Paul Harrop for champion and reserve champion, respectively.

The intermediate division, by far the largest class of the day, was targeted at youth 11-14 years of age. Patrick Jenkins of Toughkenamon won champion fitting and champion showmanship in this division. Reserve champion fitting went to Josh Spangler of Glenmoore, and reserve champion showmanship went to Eliza Walton of Kennett Square.

The senior division, ages 15-18, saw Meredith Bailly of West Chester win both championship fitting and showmanship with Erica Lloyd of Pottstown taking reserve in both categories.

Chester County 4-H Dairy Goat Roundup Largest Show In Years

HONEY BROOK (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Goat Roundup was conducted in early August here at the Romano 4-H Center of Chester County.

A total of 27 4-H dairy goat projects were exhibited, with exhibitor participation up 20 percent over last year.

This year the show was divided into three breed classes — Alpines, Nubians, and Toggenburgs. The pre-4-H Cloverbud and 4-H classes were combined for the show.

Dan Torrison of Quakertown not only placed the animals but also instructed the 4-H'ers in how to improve their animals through breeding.

In the Alpine breed, Erin Whitesel of Landenberg captured senior and grand champion with her doe, Lollypop, in the does 1 and 2 years of age class. Andrew Kurtz of Morgantown received the reserve senior and reserve grand champion title in the combined show of pre-4-H and 4-H with Lively, a doe also in the 1 and under 2 years of age category.

Joe Batchelder of Glen Mills received reserve senior and reserve grand champion in the 4-H only show with Jellyrole, who showed in the 3-5 years of age group. Marmelade, who showed in the 4- to 12-month-old kid class, was the junior champion for Erin Whitesel, with Andrew Kurtz winning the reserve junior ribbon with Merry, who also showed in the 4- to 12-month-old class. In the 4-H-only show, reserve junior champion went to Chad McKee of Coatesville with Mist.

Melissa Wertz of Downingtown swept top honors in the Toggenburg class when Cassy, who showed in the 5 years of age and older class, was named senior and grand champion. Melissa also received the reserve senior and reserve grand champion with Muffin, a doe in the 3- to 5-year-old class. The junior champion in this division went to Kokomo, a kid under four months of age, and reserve junior champion to Raisenette, a 12- to 24-month-old kid; both owned by Melissa.

In the Nubian Breed, Torrison selected a 3- to 5-year-old doe named Midnight, owned by Veronica Bates of Gradyville, for senior and grand champion. Reserve senior and reserve grand champion went to Veronica's doe, Buttercup, who showed in the five years of age and older class. Poppy Seed, a kid in the 12- to 24-month-of-age class, also owned by Veronica, was awarded junior champion. Reserve junior champion went to Melissa Wertz with Jenny, a kid in the 4- to 12-month-old class.

The highlight of the roundup was when the judge selected Melissa Wertz's outstanding grand champion Toggenburg doe, Casey, for best in show honors. Erin Whitesel received the reserve award with her Alpine doe, Lollypop.

In the fitting and showing competition, Chad McKee was the junior champion showman for members under 14 years old. Joe Batchelder was named junior champion fitter for the same age group. In the senior competition, Melissa Wertz received champion showman and Veronica Bates was awarded champion fitter. In the first-year division, Erin Whitesel received both champion showman and champion fitter awards. In the pre-4-H or Cloverbud competition, Selena Bari of Downingtown won the champion fitter award and Andrew Kurtz was named champion showman.

16-Year-Old Mercersburg Youth Takes Top Honors At Fair

MERCERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — The Franklin County 4-H Beef Club held its annual junior market steer show in August at the Franklin County Fair. There were 21 exhibitors in the fitting and showmanship competition classes. The judge was Doug Musser from Mount Joy.

Judge Doug Musser complimented the youth for a job well done.

Matt Hawbaker, 16, Mercersburg, was named the champion fitter of the show. Justin Conner of Loudon Road, Chambersburg, was named champion showman.

Matt Hawbaker also showed the grand champion steer and Jodi Meyers of Greencastle showed the reserve.

Early Care Determines What You Get For Your Bull Calves

MIDDLETOWN (Dauphin Co.) — Calf care is a major area of lost economic opportunity in dairy production. Many producers do not realize that what's good for the heifer is good for the bull, and what's good for the bull calf is good for dairy herd profitability.

Improved management of ALL calves on the farm will benefit the overall herd program, the milk market, the calf market and the producer's farm income — beyond the obvious 50 cents to $1 more per pound received for top-quality calves that are antibiotic-free, blemish-free, healthy, and ready to grow. How calves are managed in the first hours and days of life determines their potential in dairy replacement or veal growout.

Veal is making a comeback with consumers through promotion and recipe development. Today, 80 percent of the nation's veal supply comes from dairy calves going to special fed veal growers where they are raised to about 20 weeks of age at a weight of 400 to 500 pounds. But only 14 percent of these Holstein bull calves leave the dairy farm in the proper health and condition.

Dairy farmers are clearly missing significant economic opportunities. A 1996 survey of Pennsylvania calf buyers and auction barns revealed that 20 percent of calves are marketed at less than three days of age, 23 percent arrive dirty, 24 percent have scours or respiratory problems, 12 percent have wet navels, and 7 percent have difficulty walking.

Nationally, the preweaned mortality rate is 11 percent. An estimated 40 percent of all calves do not get adequate colostrum for passive immunity transfer, and 34 percent of producers are still relying on calves nursing instead of guaranteeing consumption by collecting and feeding the essential first colostrum. In addition, more than half of U.S. dairy farmers are still not dipping navels with iodine at birth. These statistics are unacceptable and directly impact the profits of both veal and dairy producers.

Industry and university studies indicate that calves which acquire a higher level of passive immunity in the first hours after birth are worth $20 to $25 more in their first four weeks of life, based on this single management factor alone. Not only are they healthier, less likely to die or incur treatment costs, and more likely to reach their potential — they also demonstrate faster growth and better gain, using less feed than their counterparts with low serum antibodies.

A Cornell University study showed that failure in the colostrum department reduced calf weights at six months of age by 150 pounds. Just think what that means to the veal grower who raises the calf to five months of age.

The quantity, quality and timing of colostrum feeding accomplishes far more than any vaccine or injection in protecting calf health and promoting long-term production and profitability. Four to six quarts of colostrum should be fed daily for at least the first three days of life. But time is of the essence. Three quarts must be fed in the first hour after birth, and then two more times during the first 18 hours of life.

The calf's ability to absorb these antibodies from the lining of the small intestine directly into the blood-stream diminishes every hour as cell structures mature during the first 24 to 36 hours of life. At the same time, calves are most vulnerable to ingested bacteria or viruses because these molecules are also absorbed easily into the bloodstream before gut closure. Whatever gets there first — antibodies or bacteria — are immediately absorbed by the calf to determine its future health and profit potential.

When a calf is sent to market at less than three days old, without having absorbed adequate colostrum antibodies, it readily absorbs whatever viruses and bacteria it ingests on the truck or in the sale pen. Antibiotics do no good at this age, and only result in violative drug residues when the smaller, younger, less thrifty calf is purchased for near-term slaughter as "bob" veal.

First colostrum is the only antibody source for disease protection in newborn calves. It also contains vitamin E necessary for the four to six weeks process of immune system development. Plus colostrum is a source of important growth factors and hormones. The quality of the colostrum is determined by herd health, nutrition and immune status and the dry cow management program.

Properly cleansing the udder before collecting the colostrum and sanitizing bottles and nipples for feeding are essential safeguards against the introduction of bacteria to the susceptible newborn calf. Newborns should receive the first colostrum which must be stored at temperatures below 40 degrees F. to prevent bacterial growth. Later collections of colostrum should be saved for older calves on the farm.

Built for the long haul

Here's why:

- Corrosion-resistant steel sides
- Indestructible plastic floor boards (HDPE)
- 12-year guarantee for FREE floor and sides if they fail

The Model 185 carries a 287-bushel load with ease. We'd like to show you why this is the best-selling spreader in its class.

Call Binkley & Hurst Bros. Your Source For Quality Grain Handling Equipment

A premium quality galvanized auger designed for low maintenance operation.

Mayrath introduces the all new "InLine Drive" series of portable grain augers. Mayrath has combined operational efficiency with long term dependability providing you with a high quality, GALVANIZED auger at a very affordable price. The revolutionary "InLine Drive" system minimizes the number of moving parts...greatly reducing costly downtime and maintenance in the future.

Mayrath
InLine
Drive

DIAMETER	CAPACITY	LENGTHS
8"	3200 BPH	32', 42', 52', 62', 72'
10"	4500 BPH	32', 42', 52', 62', 72'

The unique "InLine Drive" design features an internally mounted gearbox inside of an expanded, bell shaped tube housing Auger flighting is positioned to allow a high volume of unrestricted grain flow around the internal gearbox. A new intake design utilizes double flighting and a cupped intake guard to offer a high capacity, complete cleanout operation. A specially engineered hopper bolts directly to top of the intake guard, further enhancing the augers capacity

The InLine Drive
Unique in design. high in efficiency.

The gearbox is located inside the bell shaped tube housing flighting. The outer tube is expanded to allow an unrestricted and efficient flow of grain past the gearbox drive section. This design provides for both economical and low maintenance operation.

Industry Leading Turning Radius

The revolutionary chassis of the MX Series Magnum improves your overall performance and productivity. In fact, the innovative Surround frame allows for the tightest turning radius in the industry, even with front duals!

Thanks to axle improvements, engine placement and a sleek hood design, the MX Series Magnum can easily turn into 12 30-inch rows with all row crop tire configurations on true 60-inch tread settings.

The new, single-piece, sculpted, cast iron Surround frame is the key to the enhanced capabilities and performance of these tractors. It enables the MX Series Magnum to offer the first factory front duals, dramatically improving both traction and flotation. By balancing the chassis, we've significantly reduced the amount of front ballast required. And the frame easily accommodates mounted chemical tanks or loaders, allowing you to perform multiple applications.

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc. Has A Heavy Duty

One day in 1949, a friend told Stan Knight, "I wish someone would make a spreader that would not break down with frozen manure." That challenge to the founder of Knight Manufacturing led to the Knight heavy duty manure spreaders that were soon on the market. The common focus of Knight spreaders to this day is that they are simple and rugged and designed to give many years of service.

New Case IH Grain Drills In Stock For Quick Delivery! The Goal: Uniform Seed Distribution

If you want precision seeding, you need a new Case IH 5300 Series Grain Drill from Binkley & Hurst Bros. No matter if you plant small grain or soybeans!

The Game Plan: Case IH 5300 Grain Drill

Designed for precision planting in solid or extra-narrow row patterns to maximize yields.

- Exclusive diagonal-lipped fluted-roll seed cups ensure uniform seed distribution.
- Close-coupled maneuverability.
- Large-capacity seed hopper to cover extra acres between refills.

A Special Feature For All Case IH Grain Drills

Fluted Roll Feed Cup Assemblies Save Seed and Save Time. A known fact that Case IH die-cast zinc alloy feed cups are superior to other competitive brands. Long life comes from oil-impregnated, molded, sintered metal liners act as a positive bearing surface to surround and support the fluted roll.

Large throat clearance allows the handling of big seeds and prevents seed damage.

Fluted roll is precision-molded and won't freeze up during the idle periods.

Shut-off block is molded of steel and delivers consistent cup to cup seeding accuracy. Exclusive tapered metered edge at the bottom of the feed cup provides unexcelled seeding accuracy, even seed flow, and more uniform spacing.

For replacement parts for your existing drill, buy Case IH quality from our Parts Dept. Now! Precision engineered to fit your grain drill exactly!

And you get more than a precision grain drill. You can count on us for genuine, value-priced parts, professional and reliable service support, and flexible financing.

AG BODY & TRUCK HEADQUARTERS

Looking for more than a "silage" body?

Need strength, durability and convenience year 'round?

Consider the USA ALLStar!

Maximum Strength and Durability make the ALLStar more Versatile than conventional "silage" bodies. Haul a variety of ag needs from grain and feed ingredients to sand and fertilizer with no chains or extra bracing ever.

Unloading is FAST and EASY with our clean, tapered body design and SAFE, STABLE Omaha Standard under-body hoists installed properly to provide maximum dump angle and fast cycle time.

Have Complete Control from the Cab with the exclusive Hydralock Gate Locking Assembly - locks automatically when gate is closed - no turn buckles or bolts necessary to keep load secure!

More for Your Money with the ALLStar... so much more performance, durability and convenience than traditional "silage" bodies and still COMPETITIVELY PRICED!

WOODS

It mows more grass. It reduces downtime. It's available right now.

Zero-turn radius capability. Greater riding comfort. Easier operating controls. We've even designed an expanded fuel tank to keep you going longer. What more could we possibly add? How about a blades and belts kit* - absolutely free. Come in and test drive one today!

LOADERS

WOODSDUAL

7 Models to choose from.

Whether your tractor has two wheel or four wheel drive and falls within the 11 to 200 HP range Woods has a DUAL loader to fit your needs.

Fast-D-Tach attaches to your tractor in minutes.

BACKHOES

Woods Ground Breakers™

6 1/2 ft., 7 ft. & 9 ft.
3 HOOK-UP OPTIONS
Skidsteer • 3-Point Hitch • Subframe

Quality, performance & versatility describe the Woods family of backhoes. Multi-function Control Valve design provides for a smooth operation. These backhoes are a proven leader in the agricultural & commercial industries. For more information, see your Woods dealer.

HEAVY DUTY 2-SPINDLE MOWERS

Model 121 gear drive mowers cut a 10 ft. swath and is available in either mounted or pull type. They are ideal for mowing grass, weeds, clipping pasture, cutting brush and shredding stalks. Designed for tractors rated 40 to 80 HP with standard category 2, 3-point hitch and either 540 or 1,000 PTO.

PUT A BAT IN YOUR BARN BATWING 3180 - 3 SPINDLE MOWER

The Woods model 3180 is the toughest Batwing® mower we've ever built. A "clean deck" design that resists cut material build-up, innovative Intra-Drive™ gearboxes engineered and built by Woods, and the fastest blade speeds of any mower in its class. The 3180 Batwing® cuts through brush, up to three inches in diameter. A blade overlap of over six inches, and you have a mower that delivers a quality cut, without streaking. From its heavy-gauge deckplate to its heavy-duty drivelines, we build the 3180 to last. What's more, they come complete with a 36-month gearbox warranty.

REARMOUNT FINISH MOWERS

The RD7200 Rear Discharge Finish Mower is the newest addition to the Woods line of 3 point hitch finish mowers.

- V-Belt Drive with 3 blades
- Industrial Quality Blade Spindles with Tapered Roller Bearings
- Floating 3 point hitch
- Stagger Mounted Caster Wheels
- Available for 20 to 40 HP, 540 RPM Category Tractors
- 72 Inch Cutting Width

WOODS

A new standard from the 3-cylinder leaders

New Holland has raised the standards for 42 to 62 PTO hp tractors with the introduction of TND and TNS models.

The higher standards include:

- Proven engines: up to 36% torque rise
- Exclusive SuperSteer™; 76 degree turning
- Exclusive Traction Management System
- Iso-mounted, fully enclosed cab with standard A/C, heater, tilt/telescope steering, front/rear washers/wipers, best electronic dash, best visibility, and more
- Clutchless power shuttle fingertip control
- State-of-the-art 16x16 Synchro Command™ transmission with 4 speeds under 1 mph

Building on a good thing

You might recognize the engines, drivelines and axles on the new New Holland TS tractors. They have excellent reputations based on past performance. Thousands of customers have put these components to hard use and benefited from their performance and durability.

So, New Holland wasn't about to change a good thing. They made other improvements to these 70- to 90-PTO-hp tractors instead – like increasing the horsepower, improving the comfort of the cab, relocating the fuel tank for added convenience, adding a top road speed of 25 mph, upgrading the electrical system and adding outlets and modernizing the styling.

Better see these exciting 70- to 90-PTO-hp TS tractors for yourself. And find out how good design can become even better.

Any job. Any time. Anywhere.

Hard work demands productive, dependable equipment, like the New Holland Super Boom™ skid-steer loader. Super Boom has unbeatable stability and visibility, faster travel speeds, superior dump height and reach, greater bucket and lift capacity and more attachments than anyone.

Stop in today and see what Super Boom can do for you.

Compacts made for landscaping

Turn the key of a New Holland compact diesel – select a speed... press the throttle. These tractors have the engine and hydraulic muscle to make short work of raking, grading, hauling stock, and blade work.

- Change directions easily with optional hydrostatic or shuttle-shift transmissions
- Pull through tough spots with available 4WD
- Steer effortlessly through tight areas with Touch-Turn™ steering
- Operate a loader or backhoe with hydraulic power to spare

New Holland is the smart choice

When it comes to choosing the right tractor, New Holland offers you more, 45 to 62 PTO hp "30 Series" tractors make it easy to get the job done.

- 8x2, 8x8 synchro shuttle or 16x8 DualPower™ transmissions
- Hydraulic packages with up to four remotes
- 2WD or FWD
- Foldable ROPS
- Hydrostatic steering

Stop in and tell us how we can serve you.

Moyer & Son Employees Gear Up For Grand Prix Charity Booth

SOUDERTON (Montgomery Co.) — For the second year, Moyer & Son, Inc. of Souderton is sponsoring the Univest Grand Prix.

Not only does their sponsorship make them a participant in what is quickly becoming the region's premier amateur sporting event, but it also affords employees of the company an opportunity to support one of their favorite organizations, the Indian Creek Foundation.

On race day, employees of Moyer & Son, Inc. will man a booth in the vendor area of this year's Grand Prix, selling frozen fruit drinks and other refreshments to spectators. The main feature of this year's employee booth is the expansion of their prize drawing to include four different prizes.

Teaming up with Moyer & Son in this charity effort are the North Penn YMCA, providing a one year adult membership; Indian Valley Bike Works, supplying a Trek 820 Mountain Bike; Club Genesis, offering a six month fitness membership; and The Washington House Restored Victorian Restaurant, which is donating a complete dinner for two.

Prize tickets sell for $1 each or six for $5 available prior to the race at the Moyer Store located at Moyer & Son, Inc. on Fourth Street in Souderton, or at the booth on Sept. 18, the day of the race.

SLATER, IOWA — Garst Seed Company and Left & Center Field of Dreams officials announce that Garst brand hybrid seed corn has been named as the "Official Seed Corn" for the 10th Anniversary celebrations for the world's most prominent baseball field.

More than a decade ago, the world's most popular baseball movie, "Field of Dreams," was filmed near Dyersville, Iowa. To help celebrate the 10th Anniversary of the film, Left & Center Field of Dreams and Garst Seed Company have teamed up to create a unique and colossal maze cut out of the magical corn that surrounds the field.

"We are very excited about the opportunity to help create some new magic at the famous ball diamond in a cornfield," said David Witherspoon, director of marketing for Garst Seed Company. "The ball diamond and the surrounding fields of corn are very special to all those that visit the site and Garst is proud to be a part of the events planned to celebrate the movie and memories made there."

As a direct result of Garst's involvement, world famous maze artist, Adrian Fisher, has been commissioned to design a very special maze to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the filming of the award-winning movie. The unique maze design was cut into 6.4 acres of Garst corn during late June and early July.

New No-Till Options With 705, 1005 From Great Plains

SALINA, Kan. — Great Plains introduces the redesigned 705 and 1005 — the latest additions to Great Plains' pioneering line up of no-till drills.

The 705 and 1005 are end-wheel, no-till drills with working widths of 7 and 10 feet, respectively. The openers on these new models feature heavy-duty coulters, offset double disks, and depth-controlling press wheels. T-handles on the press wheels make seeding-depth adjustments easy and precise.

the globe all come to see the 'baseball field in the corn,' said Keith Rahe, general manager for Left & Center Field of Dreams. "And this year, thanks to Garst, those visitors will be treated to a unique experience of navigating their way through a specially designed maze cut right into the same corn field that surround the ball diamond."

Seeding-rate adjustments are quick and simple with the new sprocket box. The drives on 705 and 1005 have been simplified for easy serviceability.

These redesigned models still have the features that have made them popular conservation and pasture seeders. The end-wheel design is durable and easy to maneuver. The all-welded seed box holds a hefty 3 bushels per foot. Customers can choose between all-seed, fertilizer and seed, or seed and native grass configurations.

Mower - Conditioners Cut Wide and Fast

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — New Hollands two new 12-disc Discbine® disc mower-conditioners provide an extra-wide, 15-foot, 7-inch cut for fast production capacity, even when mowing tough, heavy crops.

These are the largest disc mower-conditioners in the New Holland six-model lineup.

The two new models are Model 1441, a disc mower-conditioner with roll conditioning, and Model 1442, a disc mower-conditioner with flail conditioning. Both come standard with a center-pivot tongue and swivel hitch for maneuverability in the field. The swivel hitch is available in two forms: one for 3-point hook-up and the other for drawbar mounting. The operator can cut to the left, right or directly behind the tractor, and can make over-square corners, tight headland turns, or easily maneuver to cut around obstacles.

Like all New Holland disc cutting equipment, these new models feature a modular cutterbar with individual gearcases to make disc service or replacement fast and easy. The modular design also provides complete gear lubrication even while cutting on slopes.

Each gearcase is sealed in its own oil and connected by independent, hardened alloy drive-shafts. There's no full-width driveshaft that can twist and damage other gears if an obstruction is hit in the field.

Adjusting these mower-conditioners to fit varying crop conditions is easy. Many of the adjustments, including adjustments of the swath gate, windrow shields, and degree of conditioning, can be made without tools.

The model 1441 disc mower-conditioner offers excellent conditioning and leaf retention from the chevron-design intermeshing rubber conditioning rolls. Small-diameter discs offer a specially designed profile to lift crop into the conditioning rolls. The torsion-bar conditioning roll pressure system maintains near constant pressure while allowing large slugs to pass through without plugging.

New Holland's Model 1442 disc mower-conditioner with flail conditioner uses 120 independent flails to pick the crop off the cutterbar and rub it together and against the adjustable conditioning hood. This action removes the crop's waxy layer and promotes faster drydown.

New Holland's unique tapered flails release crop easily so it lays on top of the stubble in a uniform mat for better air circulation and more thorough drying. A two-speed flail rotor allows for a standard, slower speed for lighter conditioning of alfalfa or an optional higher speed rotor kit for aggressively conditioning grass crops. An optional textured hood liner conditions hard-to-dry crops more aggressively.

Case Introduces Metering System

RACINE, Wis. — Case Corporation has introduced the Case IH Cyclo Air metering system for use with Case IH Concord air till drills.

The Cyclo Air metering system expands the multi-use capability of Concord air till drills by making them effective for planting row crops as well as for seeding cereal grains.

The Case IH Cyclo Air metering system is designed to accurately meter and plant coarse grains such as corn, milo, sunflowers and soybeans. By adding the Cyclo Air system to a Case IH Concord air till drill, growers can plant both cereal and row crop grains to give them maximum value from a single investment.

"The capability of this combines system enables growers to reduce their overall capital investments. It also performs tillage and seeding in a single operation and can apply an entire nutrient program while seeding, saving time, money and fuel," said Bill Weber, associate marketing manager for Case.

The Case IH Cyclo Air metering system expands the multi-use capacity of the Case IH Concord air till drill by making it an effective row crop and cereal grain seeding system. This metering system is available for use with any of three Case IH Concord air till drill models, including the 4010 air till drill pictured here.

The Cyclo Air metering system uses a shank-style opener for accurate spacing and precise depth control. The opener lifts the soil out of the seed furrow and a firming point creates and firms the walls of the furrow.

"The combination of these two operations creates even more benefits for the grower," said Weber. "It reduces side wall compaction, common with disk-type planters, ensures accurate seed spacing, promotes uniform seed depth and fast emergence, provides excellent seed-to-soil contact and allows the grower to plant in higher moisture conditions."

With the Cyclo Air system, growers can take advantage of the versatility of the Case IH Concord air system. Available in 110-350-bushel capacities, these air systems house large central seed/fertilizer compartments to increase productivity. In addition, growers can apply dry, liquid or starter fertilizer while planting or as a separate application. The air till drill manifold system also allows growers to apply fertilizer in the seed row or in a side band.

The Cyclo Air metering system contains two seed-metering modules that each serve up to eight rows at a time. A new hydraulic Cyclo Air meter drive ensures smoother rotation of the meter drum. Both of these features promote more accurate seed spacing.

Bosler Graduates from LSU's Graduate School Of Banking

MECHANICSBURG (Cumberland Co.) — Duane G. Bosler, senior vice president, AgChoice Farm Credit, is among the 233 bankers receiving graduation certificates May 28 from the Graduate School of Banking at Louisiana State University.

This three-year program provides courses covering all aspects of banking, economics, and related subjects.

Sponsored by 15 southern state bankers associations in cooperation with the Division of Continuing Education at LSU, the banking school requires attendance on campus for three years, with extensive bank study assignments between sessions. The faculty consists of bankers, business and professional leaders, and educators from all parts of the U.S.

Standard equipment includes no-till coulters, ladders, walk-board, v-bottom dividers and a seed-level indicator. Optional equipment includes small-seeds box, weight brackets and harrows.

Duane G. Bosler

During their three years at the Graduate School of Banking, students receive 180 hours of classroom instruction, 30 hours of reviews, planned evening study, and written final examinations at the end of each session.

Farm Heritage Days Sept. 25-26

WOODSTOCK, Md. — Members of The Howard County Antique Farm Machinery Club, many of them seasoned Howard County farmers, are preparing for its 4th Annual Howard County Farm Heritage Days, Sept. 25-26 here at Mt. Pleasant Farm, about five miles west of historic Ellicott City.

The farm, a 232-acre tract, had been in the Brown family for eight generations until it was deeded to The Howard County Conservancy, Inc. in 1993. The original farmhouse and nine historic outbuildings, including a working blacksmithing shop, have been preserved, as has the bicentennial tulip poplar and the gardens surrounding the house.

Club members will demonstrate how they threshed wheat, cracked corn, shelled corn, chopped fodder, made apple cider, and used a blacksmith shop to repair tools and fashion iron to be used on the farm.

Visitors can ride around the farm on a wagon, view antique farm machinery, cars and trucks, browse through flea market booths, eat good food, and listen to country music. On Sunday morning at 10 a.m., a live bluegrass gospel church service will be held.

Proceeds from this event will be used to establish a Farm Heritage Museum in Howard County. The event allows the farmers to share their love and knowledge of historic farm life in Howard County.

DIGGING DOWN? POWER UP!

Kubota introduces the KX-Series mini-compact excavators from 22.2 HP to 42.7 HP, featuring Kubota's "Power Up" hydraulic system that increases digging performance and traveling speed.

Whatever your construction needs, we have the right excavator for you. The KX-41 and KX-71 come with a two speed swing system that improves operator feel in delicate digging areas, while the KX-101 and KX-151 are equipped with the "TPSS" two pattern selection system that lets the operator choose the most comfortable operating pattern.

If you require an excavator that delivers superior performance and digging capabilities, work a Kubota KX Excavator and "Power Up"

Kubota

Model	HP	Digging Depth	Operating Weight
KX-41	22.2	6'9.1" - 7'11.3"	3,615 lbs
KX-71	32.2	8'9.1" - 10'2"	6,415 lbs.
KX-101	36.6	10'1.3" - 12'5"	8,115 lbs.
KX-151	42.7	12'0.3" - 12'8"	12,025 lbs

Prices Starting As Low As $356⁰⁰ per month.

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS
Check your silo now for rotten staves. If you have been using your silo for 10 to 15 years for either corn silage or haylage, it is time to SHOTCRETE

RESURFACES INTERIORS:

- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increase useful life
- Economical

Before The silo's interior with plaster damaged and stave exposed

After The surface is reconditioned, and a new, thick tough surface will protect stored feed.

REPAIRS HOLES:

- Repairs even large holes
- Up to twice the strength of the original stave
- Rapid application
- Durable surface

Before A hole is worn completely through the silo wall

After With the hole repaired by Shotcrete and a new surface applied, the silo is ready for years of use

EXTENDS USEFUL LIFE:

- Support for old foundations
- Special repairs can be made quickly and economically
- Little or no forming needed
- Stronger than the original

Before The bottom part of the stave's are completely worn away

After The Shotcrete
System repairs and replaces the missing structure

"HI-MOISTURE SHELLLED CORN"

You know the advantages of hi-moisture shelled corn versus dry corn for animal feeding. So now consider the MANY ADVANTAGES of POURED CONCRETE to store and protect your valuable grain.

Our 6" thick concrete walls reflect 38% of light beams, resulting in 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel, and 25 times more insulating power than steel.

"Our 6" thick walls have a very low leak potential compared to pre-lab silos of any kind, and a very low maintenance requirement."

Bringing Efficiency
Up
By Bottoming
Out

The harvesting of high moisture grains has brought increased efficiency to the farm field and harvesting losses are reduced. Earlier harvesting can mean fewer weather problems and high yields. 8200H eliminates those costly drying methods. And the Series 8200H has brought increased efficiency to bottom unloading, tougher construction for extra heavy duty lower maintenance, superior engineering for increased operating efficiency and dependability and crop flexibility for increased usefulness and versatility.

FEATURES

Improved worm gear assembly with stainless steel shaft for greater corrosion resistance.

Extra heavy duty double gear box for years of trouble-free operation.

Store your high moisture grains - shelled corn, ground ear corn, milo and barley - with confidence

Having Problems Getting Milk Cold?

With all this summer heat, consider a Mueller® pre-cooler.
It's an excellent way to lower the cost of cooling milk.
It reduces milk temperature with water pumped straight out of your well. Mueller® precoolers are available in sizes to work with any system. If lower electric bills would make your life easier, call us and ask for more information on Mueller precoolers.

Cut stall clean-out time by 50% with a Millcreek Compact Spreader.

"The spreading efficiency sure outweighs the price. This is a wonderful machine. I couldn't be more pleased."
EARL SINKS - Brock, Texas

Say "Good-Bye" to back-breaking manure handling and cut stall clean-out time in half. Hook an affordable Millcreek Compact Spreader to your 10 hp garden tractor, take it right to the stall for easy loading. No more wheelbarrow.

Millcreek Spreaders last and last

Since spreaders are our specialty, we put more into each one. For example our 20-year guaranteed floor will never rust or rot. Positive chain drive provides excellent spreading action. And tough steel construction holds up to rugged farm use. Seven sizes, for 1-horse barns to 50-horse stables. PTO and ground drive models available.

CUSTOM MIX PROGRAM

OPTIONS IN FEEDING

Your Dairy Herd

Call us today for a feeding program built to fit your Dairy Herd and your Production Goals.

For maximum performance and income over feed cost, rations should be balanced to provide the optimum levels of degradable and undegradable protein, nonstructural and structural (fiber) carbohydrate as well as minerals and vitamins. This allows for maximum utilization of the rumen microbes and total ration efficiency. Because your needs may be different from your neighbor's, we adjust the following nutrients and ingredients to fit your needs and goals

- Amino Acids
- Protein
- By-Pass Protein
- Energy
- Fiber

- Calcium
- Phosphorus
- Salt
- Vitamins & Trace Minerals
- Organic Trace Minerals

- Multi-Protein Sources
- Added Animal Fat
- Rumen Inert Fats

PURINA'S ROUGHAGE EXTENDER

Because of the drought in the Northeast this year, many dairy farmers are already using feed usually stored for winter to feed their cows. So, this is a good time to hear how these loyal Purina farmers are using Purina's roughage Extender to make their home grown hay and silage go farther while they still maintain top milk production and body condition.

Boots Kolb from Adamstown, Maryland, especially likes Purina's Roughage Extender to add bulk to the cows diet. "It is easy to mix and handle, and there is no waste," Boots said. "This Purina feed improves the cow's condition and they give more milk. What more could you ask for in a feed product?"

Tony, left and Tim Trout, from Keymar, Maryland, milk 150 cows and have fed Purina Roughage Extender for more than a year. "Purina Roughage Extender definitely stretches our forage," Tony said. And Tim agrees. "We feel Purina Roughage Extender adds balance between our forages and grain in our cow's diet. It's palatable, and the cows really like it. We like the additional fortification it brings to our feeding programs."

Stan Tucker, left from Jefferson, Maryland, milks 170 cows and has been feeding Purina Roughage Extender since March of this year. "Purina Roughage Extender stretched my forage to get me through this past summer," Stan said. "In addition, this great Purina product increased my milk production by three to four pounds of milk per cow per day."

Mike Grossnickle, right from Union Bridge, Maryland, milks 120 cows and has been feeding Purina Roughage Extender for about a year. "Purina Roughage Extender increased milk production in my herd," Mike said. "I have seen a noticeable improvement in my cows hoof health too. In addition, Purina Roughage Extender has reduced twists in my fresh cows."

Larry Rice, right from Middletown, Maryland, milks 60 cows and has been feeding Purina Roughage Extender since last winter. "Purina Roughage Extender holds peak milk production better," Larry said. "Without a doubt, this feed from Purina helped get me through the summer by stretching my forage."

There you have it-- the word of six really good dairy farmer customers of H.C. Summers, Inc., in Jefferson, Maryland. They all have the same story. Purina Roughage Extender is helping to get them over the drought-imposed feed shortage on their farms. If you are short on hay or silage or both on your farm, Purina Roughage Extender may be just what you need. Call your Purina dealer for more information on how Purina's Roughage Extender can help you get through this fall and winter.
